Mike Gottfried Honored As 'Citizen Of The Year'

One more honor came for Mike Gottfried, Murray State University head football coach, Wednesday night as the Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce selected him as recipient of the "Citizen of the Year, 1979" award.

The presentation was made by Paul Kiesow, chamber vice president, at the 53rd annual chamber banquet. The award has been presented annually since 1958.

Just in his second year as the Racer mentor, Gottfried directed his team to a 9-1-1 campaign; an Ohio Valley Conference championship, the school's first since 1951; a ranking of second in the nation in the NCAA's Division I-AA; and a semi-final round playoff berth against Lehigh University.

Along with being presented the chamber's highest honor, the Crestline, Ohio, native also has been named the OVC Coach of the Year, Kentucky Sportsworld Coach of the Year and Tri-State Coach of the Year (voted by the Evansville Courier) for the 1979 season.

Gottfried, who played quarterback in his collegiate football days at Morehead State University, is scheduled to be the featured speaker at the Kellogg Coaching Clinic, the most prestigious clinic in the nation.

Going into the 1979 season, Gottfried's teams have won 91 of 125 games, a winning percentage of .728.

He is married to the former Michaelene Rosandic of Crestline. They have two daughters, Mindy and Marcy.

The entire membership of the chamber of commerce voted on the award, an engraved plaque.

The chamber also honored Bill Barker, superintendent of the Murray

Electric System, who will retire Dec. 31, completing 33 years of employment with the company. He was presented a plaque of appreciation.

Barker came to the Murray Electric System in February 1947 as a line foreman. He moved up to superintendent in September 1972.

A native of Wedowee, Ala., Barker attended school at Bowden, Ga., Bowden State (now West Georgia University), Oglethorpe and the University of Miami.

After college, he enlisted in the armed forces and was wounded twice in European Theater campaigns.

Barker is married to the former Charlotte Owens and they have one daughter, Jennie.

Featured speaker for the night was Joe R. Green, supervisor of employment for the Pennwalt Corp., was commented on the free enterprise system.

Green said in order for free enterprise to work, daily challenges must be met head-on by business and industry, not by government. He added that the success of the system is based on the ability to create "when, what and where without government intervention."

"A refusal to quit and a lust for success" have been true for all facets of the free enterprise field, Green said. However, he added, successes could lead to defeats. He cited the readiness of food and water as examples.

Free enterprise is everywhere and if it is to survive, according to Green, businesses need to organize.

A graduate of Benton High School and holder of a bachelor's degree from MSU, Green has been with Pennwalt 24 years. He started as a laboratory technician then moved his way up to management.

Green is a veteran of Korea. He is married to the former Pat Downing of Brewers and they have three daughters, Kelli, Carla and Lee.

Previous winners of the "Citizen of the Year" award include Vern Kyle, 1958; Dr. Ralph Woods, 1959; Hon. Frank A. Stubblefield, 1960; Buford Hurt, 1961; Judge Robert O. Miller, 1962; Max B. Hurt, 1963; Hon. Holmes Ellis, 1964; James E. Garrison, 1965; H. Glenn Doran, 1966; Robert Moyer, 1967; Leonard Vaughn, 1968; Dr. Harry M. Sparks, 1969; Dr. A.H. Kopperud, 1970; Fred T. Schultz, 1971; Joe Dick, 1972; Z.C. Enix, 1973; Margaret Trevathan, 1974-75; Dr. C.C. Lowry, 1976; Betty Lowry, 1977; and Dr. Alice Pixley Koenecke, 1978.

Toastmaster for the dinner was Walt Apperson, chamber president. Specials introductions were made by James Johnson, chamber executive vice president. The invocation was delivered by Max Hurt, president of the Murray-Calloway County Industrial Foundation.

Murray-Calloway County Park To Be Closed Nightly At 10

Effective immediately, the Murray-Calloway County Park will be closed after 10 p.m., according to parks director Gary Hohman.

Both the east and west entrances and the exit to the park will be chained off. Security guards will be posted in the park, Hohman said, and violators found on the premises will be prosecuted.

The new policy was prompted by the vandalism which occurred last year and that which was done earlier this week to the displays being set up for the "Christmas in the Park" program which will be lighted at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

MSU Officials Awaiting Word On Game Blackout

Murray State University officials were awaiting word today on whether or not the Murray State-Lehigh University Division I-AA playoff game will be blacked out in the Murray area.

The game is being regionally televised by ABC-TV but NCAA officials have indicated they prefer a game not be televised in the city of the game if it is not sold out 48 hours in advance.

It had earlier been announced that WNGE, Channel 2, Nashville, which can be received on Murray Cablevision would carry the game but MSU officials said today that there is a possibility that channel 2 would be blacked out locally.

The decision on the blackout will come from NCAA officials.

Morris said the taxes can be mailed to or brought to the sheriff's office.

Police To Patrol City Stores For Shoplifters

As the holiday season is just around the corner, the spirit of giving may turn into the spirit of taking for some shoppers.

Murray Police Chief Paul Jerry Lee stated today that on-duty and off-duty officers, detectives and plain-clothes officers will be walking through all stores in the city.

Lee added that although shoplifting is a misdemeanor, mug shots and fingerprints of the suspect are taken and sent to the Bureau of State Police.

A person does not have to be off the store premises to be charged with shoplifting; he just has to have merchandise concealed on his person, Lee said.

The Murray police arrested a male Tuesday night and charged him with shoplifting under $100.

The suspect, whose name was withheld by police, was caught in Kroger with $2.72 worth of food concealed in his clothes, according to police reports.

The suspect was issued a citation and released on his own bond to appear later in court, police said.

Tickets for the game may be purchased in Room 211 of Roy Stewart Stadium as well as at Bank of Murray, Peoples Bank and Dennison-Hunt Sporting Goods. Kickoff is set for 12:40 p.m. Saturday.

Groups Wanted To Go Caroling For Need Line

"A lovely way to celebrate Christmas and bring joy to your neighbors is to go Christmas Caroling. An effective way to help those with problems they cannot handle is to Carol for Need Line," said Betty Boston, chairman of the Need Line Carolers for the Board of Directors of Need Line.

Any church, civic, or social group who would like to participate in this special project for the holiday season may call Mrs. Boston at 753-9476, days, or 753-6640; evenings, or the Need Line, 753-NEED, to make arrangements. A schedule is being made so that groups will not cover the same area.

Mrs. Boston said all contributions given through caroling will go to Need Line, dedicated to helping Calloway Countians find the resources necessary to fill their needs.

In past years the Need Line Carolers have collected more than $400, Mrs. Boston said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — While not ruling out military force, President Carter is said to be hoping a policy of economic denial — "turning the screws a little tighter" every few days — will induce Iran to free 50 American hostages.

Speaking to a group of about 100 House members Wednesday night at the White House, Carter was reported to have outlined a series of economic measures he is prepared to take to end the crisis, now in its 33rd day.

The administration apparently hopes to enlist the support of several U.S. allies in Europe, all major consumers of Iranian oil.

U.S. officials, who asked not to be identified, said Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance will travel to four West European capitals next week to try to line up support for new American initiatives.

Vance is due to go to Belgium for a NATO ministerial meeting. Sources said the trip will be expanded to include Britain, West Germany, France and Italy.

A high-level State and Treasury Department mission was sent to Europe on Wednesday, intending to visit the same four countries, plus Switzerland.

At the White House dinner, Carter indicated that Iran's economy, heavily dominated by imports, may suffer even without any new American initiatives, according to one participant.

The congressman, who asked not to be identified, reported that Carter said U.S. food shipments to Iran effectively have been halted already by the freezing of Iranian assets in the United States.

Carter also was reported to have said the arrival of U.S. warships in waters off Iran had caused Lloyd's of London and other insurers to declare the area a war zone, resulting in a 400 percent increase in ocean shipping insurance rates.

A long list of non-military initiatives is under debate within the administration following Tuesday's United Nations Security Council vote demanding the immediate release of the 50 Americans being held hostage in Iran.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the administration interprets the U.N. vote as a mandate for the United States to take additional measures.

One source said there is some sentiment in the administration favoring a U.S. call for a U.N. economic embargo against Iran, similar to the one that has been in effect against Rhodesia for many years. He said another option is a U.S. proposal for a global boycott of Iran Air flights.

It was not clear whether either of these proposals is receiving high-level consideration.

Officials suggested there are enough diplomatic and economic initiatives available to the United States that weeks may pass before the supply is exhausted.

While stressing the non-military nature of the U.S. initiatives, the Carter administration hopes to keep Iran off balance by continuing to raise the prospect of military force to settle the issue. Spokesman Carter said Wednesday the military option remains "operative."

The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda accused the United States Wednesday of resorting to "crude military and political pressure" against Iran. The State Department denounced the commentary as "deplorable."

At a meeting with American Moslem leaders Wednesday, President Carter stopped short of disavowing the use of force but a spokesman for the group said he was "almost assured" that this would not be Carter's choice.

Meanwhile, Iranian newspapers gave front page display to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's denunciation of the deposed Shah of Iran, hailing it as an attack on administration policy.

Kennedy, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, added a new dimension to the issue by calling for a national debate on whether the shah should be granted permanent asylum in the United States.

In response, Vance said such a debate would not be helpful in gaining release of the hostages.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the United States is actively engaged in the search for a permanent place of exile for the shah. Egypt has offered the shah refuge, but Carter told House members Wednesday night he believes the deposed ruler should go elsewhere because this could cause problems for Egypt in its relations with other Arab countries.

Christopher And Assistants Attend Attorneys Association

Ron Christopher, commonwealth's attorney for Calloway and Marshall counties, and assistants Bill Pinkston and Mike Ward, will attend the mid-winter meeting of the Commonwealth's Attorneys Association in Owensboro today through Saturday.

Christopher has served as president for the state prosecutors organization this year. Various speakers will address the group on topics ranging from white-collar crime to effective techniques of cross-examination.

Newly elected attorney general Steve Beshear will speak, as well as Robert Stephens, the outgoing attorney general. Stephens was sworn in as justice of the Kentucky Supreme Court Wednesday, and Beshear was sworn in as Kentucky's new attorney general, response to the Iranian crisis at noon Wednesday, Dec. 12, at the First Christian Church sanctuary.

The many facets of this situation will be under prayerful consideration, and the names of the hostages and their families will be available, a spokesman said.

This brief service will give opportunity for the community to gather in public and private prayer for our common concern, added the spokesman.

Additional mid-week prayer services will be planned to rotate among the churches as long as this crisis continues.

All churches are requested to observe some moments of silent prayer for the Iranian crisis at the Sunday morning worship service. Each church should announce and promote attendance at the mid-week communitywide service.

The First United Methodist Church offers its Prayer Room for individual use each day. It is open daily to the public from 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and is located just off the sanctuary vestibule. Persons may enter by the front door, church officials said.

Quad State Band Festival Postponed Until February

The annual Quad State Senior Band Festival, which was originally scheduled Dec. 6 through 9 at Murray State University, has been postponed until February.

Dr. Roger Reichmuth, chairman of the sponsoring Department of Music at Murray State, said the festival date was changed to Feb. 14 through 17 because of a conflict with other campus activities.

Ed Shaughnessy, the drummer with the Johnny Carson Tonight Show Band, will be the clinician for the February festival. He is well known as a performer and clinician for the Ludwig Drum Company, Reichmuth said.

The Senior Band Festival is the fourth and final Quad State Festival of the school year at Murray State. String, choral, and junior high band festivals have already been conducted this year.

"Impossible" That is not good French -- Bonaparte

Declarer does not have to be a Frenchman to land today's "impossible" game. He may not be able to see a way to make it, nevertheless, he should refrain from conceding the setting tricks before giving himself a full chance.

West takes the first two spades and shifts to the queen of clubs. Declarer wins his ace and plays two high trumps. West discards and declarer's chin sags down to his knees.

"I never get a decent trump break," he proclaims and, with that, he hurls the cards on the table and says, "You'll get a trump and a club. Down one."

On the surface, it seems that the bad trump break gives declarer no hope. But let's see what happens if declarer grits his teeth and plays on for at least a little while longer.

After the two top hearts reveal the trump stack, declarer cashes the three top diamonds. Had East been able to ruff, he would have ruffed with a trump winner anyway.

With that suit out of the way, declarer plays his king of clubs and surrenders a third club to West. West must lead a black card and declarer's problems are over.

If a spade is led, declarer ruffs with dummy's 10 and underuffs with his five. This leaves the lead in dummy and declarer's Q-9 of trumps score the last two tricks.

If West exits with a club instead of a spade, the same position develops. Dummy ruffs with the 10 and East cannot afford to overruff.

Plan For Easy Holiday Entertaining

From The Desk
Jean W. Cloar
Co. Extension
Agent for Home Ec.

Special meals, baking and home entertaining all contribute the festivities of the holiday season. Although this may sound like a lot of hard work, an appetizer, a dessert or a meal can be prepared with a minimum of fuss. Planning and a new attitude toward entertaining may be all you need to make this time of year less hectic and more fun.

To make entertaining easy and relaxed, begin by thinking of the foods that your family and friends enjoy. Talk over your plans with your family; get their ideas. Start weeks ahead looking for these new ideas.

Then develop a list of your holiday stockpiles. This means writing down all you want to have on hand and when you'll buy or prepare them. Some of them you can store in the freezer, some on the cupboard shelf and some in the refrigerator. It's surprising how many different foods you can prepare with only a few perishables. But those perishables you will need should be listed separately.

Decide early the things you want to bake for the freezer — cakes, cookies, bread and pastry shells. Keep in mind that pound cakes and similar uniced loaf cakes are easily sliced frozen and can be ready to serve in a short time. Toast some slices, top with ice cream and sundae topping. Thinly sliced shortcake is good with partially thawed fruit and dessert topping.

Pastry rolled and placed in pans ready for baking will help in the making of quick and simple main dish for those last minute dinner guests. Frozen waffles combined with bacon and jam or preserves from the shelf are great for an after-the-party breakfast. If baking isn't your thing, then consider keeping one or two frozen fruit pies or an ice box pie, which needs only thawing.

Plain, crisp cookies can be baked a month ahead if properly stored in airtight containers. Mixed cereal and nut snacks will also keep for three or four weeks when packed in airtight containers.

As you select foods to keep in the cupboard, consider an assortment of snack crackers, pretzels and nuts. Such items as canned meat or chicken spread, processed cheese spread, tuna, shrimp, crab, minced clams, corned beef, ham, anchovies and sardines can be used alone as snacks or in combination with other foods to make dips, sandwich fillings or main dish casseroles.

Sauces added to pasta or canned cream soups added to rice or pasta based casseroles can serve as main or side dishes. Canned fruits are good for salads, for broiling with meat and for combining with puddings and ice cream for interesting parfaits. Canned pie fillings may be used for pies and as quick fillings for plain cake.

Check your supply of spices and herbs. A supply of pickles, relishes and olives can come in handy, too.

The perishable items stored in the refrigerator will be limited by the space you have available. A variety of cheese will be a good choice as well as some favorite luncheon meats, smoked sausage and bacon. Sour cream is good in many ways; use cottage cheese for low-calorie dips. Try yogurt as a topping for desserts and salads. You will want some fresh vegetables for salads and relishes. If space permits, keep an extra supply of milk and eggs.

During Christmas week, purchase a variety of enriched and whole grain breads and fresh fruits.

If you've never done this type of entertaining before, start small and simple, keep everything informal. Invite your friends and encourage your children to invite theirs. This type of easy entertaining can become as much a tradition for you, your family and friends as a big Christmas Party.

Constant buzzing in ear

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read your column about the woman who had ringing in her ears and I would like your advice. I used to have this problem and I went to my doctor and he took wax out of my right ear and the ringing went away. The last time this happened and I was having a buzzing noise, just taking wax out of my ear didn't help.

I am 72 years old and have a constant buzzing in my ear. He sent me to an ear, nose and throat specialist who said the nerve in the ear was degenerating and that because of that and my age there wasn't anything he could do to help me. I also have sinus trouble and am a very nervous person. Now that I've learned that there are some methods of treating this problem, I'm wondering if I really couldn't get some help for it.

DEAR READER - At least you could try. The methods of helping people who have buzzing and ringing in the ear, called tinnitus, are fairly new. Nevertheless, they are very well established. They won't help everybody but unless you try, you'll never know.

You say in the rest of your letter that you have excellent hearing. If you have nerve degeneration with some hearing loss, you might not know it because it might involve sound frequencies that aren't in the range of normal conversation. Sometimes because of nerve damage, hearing aids are of limited use. However, even if one is of partial benefit, it may eliminate the buzzing sounds that people complain about.

If your hearing is perfect, then at least a tinnitus masker can be tried. These devices present a constant sound to the ear and literally mask the annoying buzzing or ringing sounds that a person may have.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-10, Help For Tinnitus Noise Or Ringing In The Ear. You can take a copy of this with you when you go to see the ear, nose and throat specialist just in case he may have missed the information available in the medical literature about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

One of the problems that's North Fork News-still present in trying a tinnitus masker is that not everyone is authorized to fit them. Like any device that puts noise into the ear, it must be properly adjusted for the individual. If not, excessive noise put into the ear could even cause a problem. At this date, because it's a recent development, not every hearing specialist has yet qualified to provide this service to patients.

You might try a home tinnitus masker method. Use your FM radio and tune it between stations. Then turn up the volume and sit close by. If the sound masks your buzzing noise, that is a clue that a properly adjusted tinnitus masker might help you. Some people who have trouble sleeping because of ear noises get benefit from this method.

New Providence Homemakers Club Meets At Falwell Home

The New Providence Homemakers Club met Nov. 13 at the home of Beth Falwell with Sylvia Puckett, president, presiding, and Iva Mae Allbritten reading the scripture from Psalms 100:3-4. Each member answered the roll call by naming a blessing for which she was grateful.

Helen Claud presented the lesson on "Decorating On A Budget." She suggested that one should substitute time, talent, and energy for money when decorating.

Two games were directed by Patsy Pittman with Helen Claud and Iva Mae Allbritten winning the prizes.

The hostess served refreshments to 13 members, two children, and one visitor, Mrs. Nannie Wherry of Centerville, Tenn.

Those present were Deedy Dunn, Fonda Grogan and Erin, Dorval Hendon, Gail Herndon, Maudie Kennerly, Wanda Osbron, Patsy Pittman and Van, Opal Shoemaker, Bonicha Williams, Puckett, Allbritten, Claud, and Falwell.

The Dec. 11th meeting at 10 a.m. will be held at the home of Helen Claud. A Christmas potluck meal will be served.

Just north of Moab, Utah, is the greatest concentration of natural arches in the West and possibly the world. So far 88 have been discovered, but no one knows how many more might be concealed in the maze of canyons there. They include every type of arch, single, double, triple, tunnels and turrets. Landscape Arch, possibly the longest natural stone span in the world, measures 291 feet from buttress to buttress.

The hall was decorated in blue and white. Cake, punch, nuts, and mints were served by the hostesses who were Mrs. Susan Knight, Mrs. Emma Knight, and Mrs. Juanita Stallons.

The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Susan Knight, sister-in-law of the honoree. She also made the cake for their recent wedding.

The couple was also honored with a wedding shower given by Mrs. Sheila Kirks at the home of Mrs. Frances Walker. Mrs. Kirks, the former Linda Knight, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knight of Murray and is employed at Roses Department Store.

Mr. Kirks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirks of Murray and is employed at Shoemaker Seed Company.

The couple was married on Sunday, Nov. 4, by the Rev. Johnson Easley. Their attendants were Mrs. Sheila Kirks and Earl Kirks.

All interested persons are invited to attend, according to Rudy R. Holland, president of the chapter. No reservations are required.

LEARNING GIFT Give a gift of learning. Karen Sutton, Miami, Fla., suggests in the Nov. 20th Family Circle "Readers' Idea Exchange" column that classes are a wonderful gift idea, and they needn't be expensive. As she points out, many local community colleges and museums offer inexpensive courses.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Bride Bridles At Glower Girl

DEAR ABBY: I'm in a terrible spot and need your advice. I'm in love with a terrific man I'll call Larry. We plan to be married soon. Larry has a 7-year-old daughter I'll call Linda. Linda lives with her mother, from whom Larry has been divorced for three years, but he has the child every other weekend. She's spoiled, selfish, whiny and obnoxious, but Linda has her father wrapped around her little finger. She hangs on him constantly and if he touches me, she pouts. Naturally this irritates me and I'm not very good at hiding my feelings.

Larry asked me if Linda could be our flower girl, and before I knew what a little stinker she was, I said yes. Now I realize it was a big mistake. This is my first wedding. Abby, and I want it to be MY day, but with Linda hanging all over Larry and pushing me in the background, my wedding will be ruined.

I've asked Larry to tell Linda we're not having the big wedding - we're going away to be married quietly instead. (She'll never know the difference.) Then after we return from our honeymoon we'll take Linda to Disney World to make it up to her.

Larry doesn't think it will work. What do you think?
ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: I don't think it will work either. Be wise and proceed with your original plan. And if you want a lasting marriage, I urge you to seek professional help in learning how to cope with Linda. Her jealousy is understandable. She's a 7-year-old who "lost" her father when she was 4 and is now facing the threat of losing him again.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman (in her 80s) who would come to an 83-year-old man (my father) and tell him that she had to rid her conscience (after 50 years) of the fact that years ago my mother had been unfaithful to him? Mother has been in a rest home for the last six years, totally out of touch with reality.

My father, who had always been alert and in good health, has been in a state of shock ever since. He said he never in the world suspected anything like this from my mother. He used to visit her twice a day, but hasn't been to see her since. He even turned her picture to the wall.

USED TO LIVE ON OREGON STREET

DEAR USED TO: The woman who brought your father the news could be mentally disturbed, senile or lying. Explain this to your father in an effort to comfort him.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to REALISTIC IN MASS. What gives her the right to be so critical of couples living together?

Don't get me wrong; I'm 24, single and living alone. But if "Mr. Right" comes along, I sure hope we live together before any final ties are made.

Six years ago I married a man I really thought I knew and understood. Six months later we filed for divorce.

If we had lived together for six months, a lot of pain and unnecessary expense could have been avoided.

I'm not thinking of myself; the "unnecessary expenses" came out of parents' pockets!

Woman Scissors Two Very Worn Credit Cards To Shreds

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent
MIDDLETON, Wis. (AP) — Last week, when the holiday allure appeared in earnest at the shopping malls, Jeanne Fioretto scissored to shreds two very worn credit cards.

It did not surprise her that her hands shook. She knew all along there would be nothing easy about taking the cure.

"It was a big step," she said, "but only a step. I have yet to say to a persuasive salesperson, 'No, thank you, I just don't want to buy it.' When I can say that, I will figure I have the disease cured. No, not cured, but arrested."

Jeanne Fioretto is the head of an organization she formed by putting a classified ad in the paper: "Overspenders Anonymous. Call 831-8433." That was all it said. It said it all.

"I got lots of calls. Some were from people who just needed help managing a budget. I knew that wasn't my problem, because I had studied myself and knew what my problem was. I was looking for people with my problem, and I found them."

"I'm not dumb. I know you must not spend more than you have, and I know how to add and subtract and figure interest."

"Yet I was always up against it, financially. It turns out that many others have the same problem, the same disease. Our dependency is not satisfied in a saloon, but a shopping center.

"Look at me. I have a walk-in closet that won't hold another coathanger. I can't walk into it anyhow because the floor is covered with shoes. I give away clothes I haven't even worn."

Jeanne Fioretto is a woman in her early 30s, divorced, mother of a 9-year-old, former model (size 8), editor of a professional journal, modestly salaried. She talks a mile a minute and, until lately, spent at about the same rate.

"What I discovered about myself is that when I'm depressed, low, angry, sorry for myself, I solve it by buying something."

"In that state, I'm a pushover. I know I don't need the item, don't even want it, really, but if the clerk pushes the right button, I'm lost. Sometimes all it takes is, 'I'll gift-wrap it,' or, 'I can have it ready by Friday.' Any pitch at all."

"So I formed this group, Overspenders Anonymous. All of us don't have the same problems, but we have the same symptoms."

"We meet once a week. We're just getting started, but we already have helped one another, and we have plans."

"When one of us is in a store, weakening, he can phone a member, just like Alcoholics Anonymous."

"My own next step, my resolve, is to stay out of stores at least until April."

"April is when I plan to sell my boat. Yes, I bought an outboard motorboat. Can you imagine? I don't need a boat, don't want a boat, and I bought a boat. In April, I will sell it."

Two Judicial Posts Filled With Beshear, Stephens

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Two major judicial posts have been filled with the swearing-in of former Attorney General Robert Stephens as Kentucky's newest Supreme Court justice and former state legislator Steve Beshear as attorney general.

Donning a long black robe, Stephens joined his fellow justices on the bench during swearing-in ceremonies Wednesday in the Supreme Court Chambers. The hall was packed with attorneys from the attorney general's office and from around the state.

Shortly afterward, still wearing his black robe, Stephens administered the oath of office to his successor as attorney general.

Beshear, a Lexington attorney, was elected attorney general last month and normally would have taken office with other constitutional officers in January. However, Stephens' appointment to the Supreme Court last week to replace Scott Reed left the office vacant.

Beshear said at a news conference following his swearing-in that Kentuckians can expect fulfillment of every campaign promise he made.

He pledged to conduct himself in an honest and open manner and to "keep intact the public trust."

Beshear promised greater accessibility to the attorney general's office, establishment of a special unit to help combat child abuse, and said he plans to reorganize the attorney general's consumer protection division to "revitalize and strengthen" it and make it more effective.

"You can expect a 'people's lawyer' — a people's advocate in state government," Beshear said.

He also promised early review of policies, procedures and regulations affecting individuals and businesses.

"We want to make sure that undue red tape is eliminated," he said, "that we will not cause unnecessary burdens to those individuals and businesses, and to see that what we require is practical, logical and in the best interest of all."

Beshear also said he would try to increase public awareness of services provided by the attorney general's office.

Officer Testifies Wheat Said He Was Wanted Man

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — An Orlando, Fla., police officer has testified that Kenneth William Wheat revealed that he was wanted on murder charges in Mississippi while being questioned on a Florida shoplifting charge.

Wheat, 40, is on trial for the July 29 slaying of Teresa Hayes Mayer, 21 of Paducah. He faces trial next month in the shooting death of the woman's husband of two days, Joseph Mayer, 24.

Officer Paul Aiello said Wednesday that Wheat was arrested in Orlando on Oct. 19 and the only identification he possessed was a Social Security card in someone else's name.

Aiello said that during questioning, Wheat identified himself and told investigators that he was wanted in Mississippi for "murdering a couple of people."

The officer's testimony concerning the shoplifting charge was made with the jury out of the room.

The bodies of the Mayer couple were found in a wooded area north of Pass Christian, which is west of Gulfport. Mrs. Mayer's body was nude from the waist down and authorities said she had been raped.

The two were married at Paducah and disappeared from their motel room on the Mississippi Gulf Coast while en route to New Orleans on their honeymoon.

On Tuesday, Wayne Walker of the Dedeaux community north of Pass Christian testified that during the early morning hours of July 30 he and members of their family had helped a man identified as Wheat free a car stuck in the mud on a rural road. Witnesses identified the car as belonging to Mayer.

Constable Ricky Randazzo testified Thursday that the site where the bodies were found was less than a mile from the Walker home.

In another development, Wheat reportedly presented a note to deputies last Thursday asking that his attorney and Harrison County Sheriff Howard Hobbs be told that he wanted to plead guilty to the murders. Authorities indicated the note had been placed in the court record.

Wheat issued a statement later the same day claiming to be "completely innocent" of the deaths and claiming authorities had made it appear he was a "kill-crazy monster."

Real Estate Losing People

NEW YORK (AP) — At the end of September some 2,330,845 people were licensed to sell real estate. One month later the number had dropped by 10.43 percent to 2,087,748, or a loss of nearly 8,000 a day.

The departure from the industry of more than 243,000 people is being interpreted as evidence of a weakening marketplace, and in turn as an omen of dark days for the real estate industry.

William Moore disagrees. From the industry point of view, says Moore, the decline represents a healthy weeding out. "In the past few years," he said, "zillions of people came into this business."

In his opinion, many of those who are leaving the business weren't committed to it as a profession, and Bill Moore is.

Head of one of the larger Colorado firms, Moore and Company, Bill Moore is also next year's head of the Realtors National Marketing Institute, educational arm of the National Association of Realtors.

Moore is one of those people openly distressed by the low level of competence so evident in many real estate sales people, but nobody knows the feeling better than the customer who must rely on them.

Uncounted numbers of potential buyers have found to their dismay that some sales people have almost no knowledge about a property and, moreover, have made little effort to familiarize themselves with it.

Simple but vital questions about the type of eat or the size of taxes sometimes can't be answered by the salesperson, whose firm stands to make a commission of 5 percent to 7 percent if the sale goes through.

Moore grimaces when he hears such tales. It's bad, he admits. "It doesn't take much to get licensed," he says. And he confesses that the requirements for becoming a Realtor aren't a great deal more difficult.

He feels the industry is stronger for having lost some of these sales people, and he hopes that those who remain will raise their level of knowledge, particularly through courses his institute offers.

Education, he says, is his thing. Through certificate programs he hopes to make more Realtors specialists in various aspects of their craft, "to give them a Master's Degree," so to speak.

The institute's degrees are the CRS, or Certified Resident Specialist, the CCIM, or Certified Commercial-Investor Member, and the CRB, or Certified Real Estate Brokerage Manager. Each requires the completion of five courses and a final examination.

Attesting to a growing recognition of the desirability of intensive education is a rise to 15,000 from 5,000 in the number of Realtors who have taken the institute's courses in the past year.

Moore views his challenge as that of upgrading the industry, making practitioners "more professional, more knowledgeable, more aware of their responsibilities to the buyer and seller." After a pause, he adds: "It's sorely needed in our industry."

Capitol Ideas

Neglected Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Congressional Committee is conducting a program designed to take care of millions of neglected Americans: those never polled by Gallup or Harris.

The committee, whose mission is electing more Republicans to the House and Senate, has been mailing a "1980 presidential survey" to GOP voters and inviting them to express their preference for candidates and return the ballot by mail — along with a minimum $5 contribution.

The survey form also contains a check-box for contributions of "$100, $50 or $15."

In a "Dear Friend" letter accompanying the straw ballot, committee chairman Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., asks:

"Have you ever been asked your preference for presidential candidates by professional pollsters George Gallup or Lou Harris? Probably not since they usually poll less than 2,000 people."

"That's why the National Republican Congressional Committee is launching this project to reach millions of Americans across the country to give them a chance to vote for their presidential choice well in advance of the convention."

Thym Smith, a committee spokesman, said, "Our goal is to send one to every Republican in the country."

He conceded the survey was an unorthodox way of raising funds for GOP candidates for Congress. But he defended it as "an attempt to get away from the fat-cat image and generate more involvement in the party."

He claimed the first $5 of the contribution mostly pays for mailing, processing and tabulating the ballots.

Response hasn't been exactly overwhelming, perhaps suggesting many Republicans are still holding out for Harris or Gallup.

Of the 10 million forms mailed since June, "between 300,000 and 400,000" have been filled out and returned, "some with money and some without," Smith said.

Of those with money, the average contribution has been about $11, he said.

Which candidate has the edge? The

Garrett's Galley

By M. C. Garrett

He'll Watch With Mixed Emotions When The Racers Take On Lehigh

I am grateful to Bill Major, 817 North 20th, for filling me in on Lehigh University, whose Engineers play Murray's Racers in the NCAA Division I-AA semi-final playoff day after tomorrow in Stewart Stadium.

Bill, retired as an engineer and now a travel agent, is a 1924 Lehigh graduate. Roy Kain, retired Fisher Price plant manager and who lives on 94 East, graduated there in 1934. The announcement that Lehigh would be playing the Racers in this big game brought to mind many memories of their days on the Lehigh campus, some of which Bill shared with me.

First of all, Lehigh, founded in 1865, is one of the most prestigious engineering schools in the country. Its student body numbers something like 4,300, of which 1,000 are women, admitted for the first time in 1971.

To go there costs about $7,000 a year, and they don't take just any one. Of the 4,393 men who applied last year, 2,238 were accepted. Of the 1,399 women who applied, 723 were accepted. Entrance requirements call for a SAT score of approximately 1300, of which 600 is required in verbal and 700 in mathematics.

Born in Philadelphia, Bill moved to Roebing, N.J., when he was four years old. His father was with the firm that built the Brooklyn Bridge. When he graduated from high school in Burlington, N.J., he wanted to become an engineer, and a Lehigh friend of his father's influenced him in going to Lehigh.

As a freshman on its campus on Old South Mountain at Bethlehem, Pa., in 1920, he had to wear a beanie at all times, refrain from walking on the grass in fear of being called down by an upper classman and work hard gathering wood for 30-foot-high piles for bonfires before Lehigh-Lafayette football games.

"A freshman was a marked man," he laughed. "We knew the ground rules, and you didn't see any freshmen throwing their weight around." There were no beards, no long hair, and only seniors were permitted a mustache.

"You also had to be a senior before you could have an automobile on campus," he said, recalling that those on the campus were mostly Model T Fords with a sprinkling of Stanley Steamers.

Being strictly a boys' school, the Lehigh boys in Bill's day courted the girls at a moradain college all-girls school across town. On occasions, they would go over there in a body to serenade the girls in the evening — the freshmen wearing their pajamas over their clothes to set them apart.

To do this, they had to cross the New Street Bridge over the Lehigh River, which divides the city of Bethlehem. The fare for walking across the bridge was one cent per person. On these occasions, though, he said the boys would sing in unison, "We Pay No Toll Tonight! We Pay No Toll!" The bridge keeper simply would count heads as they passed, make out a bill and send it to the Lehigh student organization, which promptly paid it — generally around $5.

Twice a year — spring and fall — girls would come up from the girls' schools in Philadelphia for Lehigh's big "House Party Weekends," making the 50-mile trip on the Reading Railroad. They still have this tradition of "House Party Weekends."

Of his teachers, Bill fondly remembers several — Pop Larkin, who taught engineering; Baldy Stewart, his economics teacher; and Lazy Jack, a mathematics teacher whose name he could not recall.

"Baldy was a great one," he chuckled, "to judge how broad a fellow's knowledge of and interest in what was going on in the business world. He also was bitterly opposed to the old Saturday Evening Post, which was one of the country's top magazines."

Jimmy's White House

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

More Red Tape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret Service red tape, which frequently delays and puzzles White House reporters who have to deal with it, may be getting worse.

A White House press pass — hundreds of which are issued to reporters who cover the president regularly and who have no record of assault against politicians — has for years entitled the holder to walk into the office of the press secretary, which is perhaps a dozen paces from the door of the president's own Oval Office.

But the same pass will not entitle the holder to get into the cafeteria of the Executive Office Building across the street. In fact, reporters can't get into the EOB at all without an appointment.

President Carter has no office in the EOB. Vice President Walter Mondale has one, but splits his time between there and another office in the White House itself. The highest-ranking official working full time in the EOB is James McIntyre, who, in case you have missed it, succeeded Bert Lance as head of the Office of Management and Budget.

The other day the president's chief economist, Charles Schultze, and the head of the Environmental Protection Administration, Douglas Costle, scheduled a news conference. But they were left to cool their heels for 20 minutes while the Secret Service took its time about admitting a group of reporters who had been invited to cover the event. The conference was delayed so long that Schultze and Costle read short statements and left before answering questions as planned.

The subject of the news conference: Jimmy Carter's progress in cutting governmental red tape.

The administration public relations man in charge of the event said the delay was caused because new Secret Service regulations had been put into effect without notice. Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner said, however, that he knew of no new regulations and didn't know the reason for the delay.

As for the rule preventing holders of White House press passes from routine access to the EOB, Warner said, "That was a decision made by (White House press secretary Jody) Powell, and we concur with it." He offered no rationale.

Fisher-Price Has Largest New Line Of Toys For This Season

Fisher-Price enters the Christmas season this year with the largest new line of toys in the company's history, products which demonstrate that Fisher-Price is much more than a preschool toy company.

Product diversification, seen in this year's more than 40 new toys, reflects Fisher-Price's efforts to significantly expand the company's age profile to include older age children while continuing to support a strong infant and preschool business.

Products have been added in each of Fisher-Price's toy categories, including Crib & Playpen, preschool basics, Play Family, dolls, trucks, Adventure People, audio-visual, and "Muppet" toys — new offerings which according to a company spokesperson "emphasize traditional values of innovation, ingenuity, strong construction, good value for the money, and of course fun."

Several of these new toys which promise to be popular Christmas items are described below:

Crib & Playpen
(Birth to 18 mos.)

Turn & Learn Activity Center — A compact, versatile floor or playpen toy filled with activities for little fingers, a clicking dial, three sliding beads, a bouncing bunny and a big, unbreakable mirror. There's a squeaker on top and a lazy Susan bottom. Six months to two years.

Preschool—Basics Kitchen Set — A durable Kitchen Set with 24 play pieces to keep small hands busy. Sturdy two-burner range with timer that "dings" and two make-believe heating elements that turn red for pretend heat. Set includes two complete place settings, coffee pot, frying pan, serving bowl and more. A bright checkered tablecloth serves as a storage bag for all kitchen pieces. Two to seven years.

Preschool—Play Family

The Woodseys' Log House — Soft, storybook playset combines charming woodland animals with a soft log house and a storybook to create an exciting new toy concept. The Woodsey family includes: Papa, Mama and baby Milkweed, dressed in colorful outfits with big open-backed sleeves which make them finger puppets too. A cozy, warm log home, decorated inside and out, is made of machine washable, foam-backed fabric, with soft plastic end panels, complete with windows and a door that opens and latches shut. One side of the log rolls down exposing the interior for play. Play parts later store away inside the log and the flap closes securely with Velcro fastener. Includes table, three chairs, bucket, broom, and 32-page storybook. The home is made completely portable with a handle on top of the log. Three years and up.

Audio-Visual

Fisher-Price Phonograph — The Fisher-Price Phonograph combines rugged durability with stylish design and excellent tonal quality. This solid state phonograph features a genuine diamond needle, rugged tone arm, quality four-inch speaker and simplified controls. The phonograph plays both 33-one-third and 45 records. Operates on normal household current and 64-inch electrical cord winds into a recessed area in the base. One year limited warranty. Four years and up.

Dolls

My Sleepy Baby — Created so a small child too can care for a soft cuddly armful. My Sleepy Baby's big blue eyes close oh so slowly when she's put to nap and open wide when it's time for play. She's 19 inches tall and bundled in a pink sleeper. Firmly rooted strawberry blond hair peeks out from her removable bonnet. My Sleepy Baby has a vinyl head and hands and a molded foam body that is surface washable. And to make another outfit, there's a simple pattern enclosed. Three years and up.

Trucks

Hook & Ladder — A classic two-section fire truck, over 18-inches long, full of realistic features. Rear section has high reaching extension ladder (makes a complete circle on its pivoting turret), two auxiliary ladders, simulated spotlight, and snap-in water nozzle. Manned by a chief and fire fighter, both figures have movable heads, arms and legs, and hands that can grip. Three to six years.

Adventure People
(4-9 yrs.)

Aero-Marine Search Team — Designed for adventures on the sea, land and in the air, this set features a giant octopus, sunken treasure, a helicopter and submarine. Buoyancy tanks enable the deep search submarine to float at the water's surface, and a clear bubble hatch snaps closed for diving. The helicopter's rotor blades spin with trigger-activated mechanism, and swing-down hook can pick up loads in mid-flight. A snap-together cage for hoisting is included along with a cradle for air transporting, a scuba diving tank and two search team members. Four to nine years.

"Muppet" Toys
Miss Piggy joins the cast of Jim Henson creations which have gained Hollywood status and fame with this year's release of "The Muppet Movie." Fisher-Price's Miss Piggy, a combination doll and hand puppet, has stolen more than one show (and heart) in her time. Three years and up.

NEW CHICK

NEW YORK (AP) — A concave-casqued hornbill chick recently emerged from its nest at the Bronx Zoo.

The zoo says this is the first time this has happened in the United States, adding, "As far as is known, Singapore is the only other zoo in the world to have reared a chick of this species."

It adds, "Concave-casqued hornbills are native to the forests of India, Malaysia and Sumatra."

POLISH REPAIR
When a small chip in your nail polish occurs, fill it in with a dab of polish, let dry, then apply a top coat over the entire nail. If you want to redo the whole nail, hold a cotton ball soaked in remover between two fingers, close to your palm, and press it against the nail for a few seconds to dissolve polish. PREPARING FOR PLAYOFFS — Racer Tailback Lindsey Hudspeth looks to his blockers for a good gain during a Murray State workout this week. The Racers, as well as the community, are looking to Saturday's Division I-AA semifinal playoff game with Lehigh University. The winner of the game will travel to Orlando, Fla., for the national championship contest and will play the victor in the Eastern Kentucky University Nevada-Reno matchup in Richmond Saturday. Kickoff for both games, which are to be regionally televised, is 12:40 CST. The Lehigh team is expected to arrive in Murray Friday morning and will work out in Roy Stewart Stadium Friday afternoon.

Murray To Entertain Lehigh

Racer Coach Not Saying Much As Playoffs Near

Coach Mike Gottfried doesn't say much about Murray State's preparations for Saturday's semifinal playoff game with Lehigh but he has a lot of respect for the Engineers.

Lehigh is "at least as good as Southeast Louisiana and will probably be the best team that we've faced all year," Gottfried said Wednesday.

Murray's only defeat of the season was a 19-11 verdict to the Louisiana power in the third game of the schedule. Since then Murray (9-1-1) has reeled off eight consecutive wins. The Engineers (9-2) are in the midst of a six-game win streak of their own and can boast of victories over division one schools Pennsylvania and Maine among their nine victims this year. The Brown and White's only losses this fall have been to Colgate (division one) and division two power Delaware.

Lehigh's strong suit, as it is with the Racers, is its team defense. The Engineers have posted two shut-outs en route to allowing an average of just 7.2 points per game and is leading the division in most of the defensive statistics.

Gottfried had this comment on the Lehigh defense: "Looking at the films the past couple of weeks, I think that they definitely have one of the strongest defenses that we have faced so far. Maybe the strongest."

The Engineer offense relies on the powerful defense to provide it with the turnovers and big plays. Lehigh's defensive eleven is spearheaded by Eric Yaszemski, who has 106 tackles so far this fall.

Something that Murray has not really faced thus far this season is a quarterback who is inclined to scramble when he gets into trouble. The Engineers have just that type of signal-caller in Rick Andres. Andres has combined his passing and rushing skills for an average of 125.2 yards per game.

"He is not afraid to pull the ball down and run with it," the Racer mentor stated. "He is definitely a double-threat man for them, he is both an excellent passer and a dangerous runner."

Queried as to how his team would contain the explosive Engineer, Gottfried was understandably reticent but offered, "We will, of course, be aware of him but generally we will do nothing different against the Lehigh offense than we have done against any other team this year."

In preparation for Lehigh the Racers have been utilizing mostly limited contact workouts, incorporating just a few full contact scrimmages. The purpose for this is to keep the injury toll down and still keep the team tuned sharply enough for actual game conditions.

"We have been treating this week's practices just as if we were going into the eighth or ninth week of the regular season," Gottfried said. "The long lay-off since the Western game as been good for us in one sense. It has allowed the majority of our injuries to disappear," he added.

Some might wonder about the Racers being stale following the long time lag between games but both Lehigh and Murray have had the same amount of time off between their season finales and Saturday's semi-final clash. This has allowed both clubs a comparable amount of time to nurse their regular season wounds and, with both teams trading game films of their last three games, it has given them each an ample amount of time to scout the other.

The fact-by-fact match-up of the squads published earlier this week revealed that the teams are very evenly matched in their statistical totals for the season. The only wide statistical difference was in the amount of penalties assessed against the Racers in yardage (1009 yds.) compared to the yards walked off against Lehigh (443 yds.)

Murray's large total is probably not a surprise to most fans when they consider that many of the teams that Murray faced gained most of their offensive yardage on penalties against the Racers.

The Austin Peay game was a good example of the Racers penalty woes. On the Governors' first drive of the game, 45 of the yards they picked up leading to the score were on plays thrown against the Racers.

"We have had a good many penalties so far," Gottfried said. "Some of them were deserved and some maybe not." He continued by citing the general youth on the Murray roster as a possible reason for the number of calls going against the Racers in the first eleven games. Murray has played a large amount of players at many positions so mistakes of this kind can be expected to some extent.

Hopefully, penalties will not be a factor in Saturday's ballgame. The spectator should see two fairly healthy and well-prepared squads square off for the play-off spot.

The winner of Saturday's encounter, to be played at MSU's Roy Stewart Stadium, will face the winner of the Eastern Kentucky-Nevada-Reno semifinal in the championship at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 15.

Murray State officials were awaiting word today on whether or not the television coverage of the MSU-Lehigh game would be blacked out locally. It was originally announced that WNGE, Channel 2, Nashville, would carry the game but NCAA officials have indicated that it might be blacked out if the game is not a sell-out 48-hours in advance.

MSU, Eastern Could Advance

Title Game May See OVC Rematch

By The Associated Press
If Murray State and Eastern Kentucky advance to next week's NCAA Division I-AA championship game, it would be an interesting sequel to this year's battle for the Ohio Valley Conference crown, which was won by Murray State.

But Eastern Kentucky Coach Roy Kidd is only concerned this week with Nevada-Reno, the Colonels' opponent in a regionally televised semifinal game Saturday at Richmond, Ky.

"They're a big, physical football team and they're awfully good," said Kidd, who watched the Wolfpack's films while waiting to see whether ECU would receive the fourth and final playoff berth.

ABC-TV also will televise the other semifinal game, in which Murray State hosts Lehigh.

Reno will arrive in Richmond with an offensive unit that averaged 414 yards per game in an 8-3 season and learned not to look ahead.

Reno was 11-0 and top-ranked when it was upset by Massachusetts in last year's semifinals.

"We underestimated Massachusetts last season," Coach Chris Ault said in a telephone interview with the Lexington Herald. "They outcoached us and outplayed us. Anytime that happens to a team, I think you remember it the next time around."

"We had expected to have a pretty good football team this year, but it took us a little longer than expected to get there," Ault said. "We're playing well now, the way we always thought we could."

Reno is led by Frank Hawkins, a junior who rushed for 1,683 yards and 15 touchdowns. He was the nation's secondleading I-AA rusher last year.

Hawkins is complemented by running back John Vicari, who added 746 yards and a 4.9-yard rushing average, and quarterback Larry Worman, who threw for 1,493 yards and 20 touchdowns.

"We're expecting a real game with Eastern Kentucky," Ault said. "I haven't seen them, but I know all about the kind of football they play in the Ohio Valley Conference."

Ballard Returning To Its Glory; Tops Prep Poll

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Louisville Ballard, returning to prominence three years after capturing the state championship, edged Ashland Paul Blazer for the No. 1 ranking in the season's first Associated Press boys' prep basketball poll.

The Bears, 2-0 after thrashing Louisville Eastern 83-55, landed six first-place votes from a statewide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Ashland, 1-0, collected 10 votes, but was not named on all ballots. The Tomcats, who bested Paris 70-58 in their seasonopener, were outpointed 256-244 by Ballard.

Louisville Moore, one of five Jefferson County teams in the top 15, was third. The Mustangs stayed unbeaten in two games with a 64-50 victory over Manual.

Warren East was fourth after pasting Grayson County 79-58 in its first effort.

Owensboro, 1-0, rounded out the top five by downing Hancock County 76-57.

Covington Holmes, which opens its season Friday night against Newport Public, headed the middle five.

Hazard, 2-0, bombed Whitesburg 81-40 and was ranked seventh.

No. 8 Shelby County improved to 3-1 with a 73-69 victory over Lexington Henry Clay.

Ninth-ranked Oldham County opened its season by humbling Beth Haven 89-44.

Louisville Central was 10th after evening its record at 1-1 with a 69-48 victory over Louisville Pleasure Ridge Park.

Louisville Iroquois, 3-0, headed the bottom five by whipping intracity rival Thomas Jefferson 74-57.

Paducah Tighman, which blasted Mayfield 75-50 to improve to 2-0, was No. 12.

Louisville Doss, 3-0, received two first-place votes and was 13th after edging Jesse Stuart 67-64.

Defending state champion Lexington Lafayette, 4-1, also received a pair of votes and was 14th after trampling Powell County 90-69.

Franklin County, 1-1, gained the final berth, despite a 60-50 loss to Louisville Atherton.

Bargain of the Month

Celtics Lose First Home Game; 76ers Lose Goal

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Boston Celtics have lost their first game of the season at home and the Philadelphia 76ers have lost their first backboard.

Darryl Dawkins, the 6-foot-11½, 252-pound center who has specialized in awe-inspiring slam dunks throughout his career with the 76ers, pulled the rim off the backboard with a dunk during Philadelphia's 132-120 victory over the San Antonio Spurs Wednesday night. The resulting hole caused the glass to shower down on top of Dawkins, who also shattered a backboard at Kansas City Nov. 13.

"It's an exciting thing, bringing down the hoop," said Dawkins. "My contract is coming to an end and maybe I'll be able to put more people into the arena — and the more people I bring out, the more money I might get in my contract."

Meanwhile, the Atlanta Hawks handed the Celtics their first National Basketball Association loss in 12 games at home this season as John

Drew scored 22 points, all in the second half, and Eddie Johnson added 21 in a 120-92 wipeout.

In other NBA games, the New Jersey Nets whipped the Phoenix Suns 115-100, the New York Knicks outlasted the Washington Bullets 107-104, the Indiana Pacers beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-99, the Los Angeles Lakers outscored the Houston Rockets 116-114, the Kansas City Kings topped the Detroit Pistons 109-93, the Denver Nuggets swamped the Milwaukee Bucks 123-107, the Golden State Warriors toppled the Chicago Bulls 97-90 and the Seattle SuperSonics tackled the Utah Jazz 115-96.

Dawkins' dunk with 6:42 left in the game was the 13th and 14th points of 20 he scored for the game, which had to be delayed for 1 hour, 14 minutes while workers installed a new backboard.

Coach Billy Cunningham said he would "never tell Darryl not to dunk for two reasons. One, that's a high percentage shot and two, it's intimidating...players have a tendency to back off."

Julius Erving led Philadelphia scorers with 28 points, while George Gervin had 42 for San Antonio.

Nuggets 123, Bucks 107
Milwaukee had swamped Denver by 57 points in a pair of October victories, but the Nuggets got great inside play from Dan Issel and George Johnson to turn the tables this time.

Issel collected a game-high 36 points and 16 rebounds, while Johnson, subbing for the injured George McGinnis, scored 15 points and also had 16 rebounds.

Lakers 116, Rockets 114
Norm Nixon scored 26 points, including the game-winning basket with 25 seconds left after a Spencer Haywood steal. Los Angeles had to rebound from a 107-102 deficit and the loss of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar after the Lakers' center was hit with his second technical foul.

Kings 109, Pistons 93
Bill Robinson led seven Kansas City players in double figures with 20 points as Detroit lost its 11th straight game on the road.

Pacers 118, Cavaliers 99
Mickey Johnson scored 24 points and James Edwards added 22 as Indiana fought back from a 13-point second-quarter deficit against Cleveland.

Johnson, Edwards and Billy Knight had six points apiece as Indiana outscored the Cavs 20-9 in the final 5½ minutes of the first half to erase most of a 52-39 deficit.

Nets 115, Suns 100
Mike Newlin scored 29 points and rookie Calvin Natt added 27, including eight straight in the third quarter to stretch a slim 63-62 New Jersey lead to 71-62. The Nets stretched the margin to 15 in the first minute of the fourth quarter when Newlin hit the first of two three-point goals.

Knicks 107, Bullets 104
Mike Richardson hit a driving layup at the final buzzer and converted a free throw after time expired as New York withstood a Washington comeback from a 15-point deficit. Ray Williams and Bill Cartwright scored 25 points apiece to lead the Knicks.

Warriors 97, Bulls 90
Sonny Parker, switched from forward to guard in a lineup change, responded with 23 points as Golden State broke a five-game losing streak with a victory over Chicago.

Sonics 115, Jazz 96
Gus Williams, leading the lightning-quick Seattle fast break, scored 32 points and the Sonics' defense held the NBA's second-leading scorer, Adrian Dantley, to 19 points.

Transfer A Headline Writer AND Coach's Dream

Hoops Sinks Two To Give SMU Upset

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

A basketball player named Ollie Hoops has to be a headline writer's dream. He also is turning out to be a dream come true for Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen.

Hoops, a junior college transfer, combined with another SMU newcomer, freshman Dave Piehler, to lead the Mustangs to an 89-88 upset victory over 19th-ranked Kansas in college basketball Wednesday night.

Kansas led 88-87 in the final minute before Hoops snagged an errant pass and was driving for a layup when he drew a foul with 15 seconds remaining. He calmly sank the free throws to give SMU the upset victory.

Led by Darnell Valentine, who scored 25 points, the Jayhawks had a 14-point lead with seven minutes left, but Hoops and Piehler paced a comeback. Brad Branson scored 17 points, Hoops 16 and Piehler 14 for the Mustangs.

"Piehler and Hoops, Piehler and Hoops, that's who did it in the end," said Allen. "That's why I recruited those two guys because they shoot the eyes out of the basket. We struggled the whole ball game, but in the end it was a great clutch play that finally won it."

"This is the biggest moment of my life," said Hoops. "I never had that much pressure on me before and performed so well. I really wanted to slam dunk the ball on that last one, but I'll take the foul shot."

Most of the other members of The Associated Press Top 20 in action Wednesday night won easily. No. 2 Duke crushed Princeton 81-45, No. 4 Notre Dame blasted Northwestern 73-56, sixth-ranked Louisiana State edged Tulane 80-79 and 10th-ranked DePaul trounced

Wisconsin 90-77.

In the Second 10, No. 11 Syracuse manhandled St. Francis, Pa., 93-60, 12th-ranked Purdue blasted Southeast Louisiana 105-59, 13th-rated Virginia nipped Temple 58-52, No. 14 Louisville thrashed Tennessee-Chattanooga 87-63, No. 15 Oregon State outscored Hawaii-Hilo 104-80 and No. 17 Georgetown blitzed Maryland 83-71.

Duke got 17, 13 and 12 points, respectively from its front line of Mike Gminski, Gene Banks and Kenny Derrard in overwhelming Princeton. The Blue Devils, 4-0, had a 13-point lead after only four minutes and expanded it to 42-18 at halftime.

Kelly Tripucka scored 19 points and Notre Dame's rugged zone defense forced 26 Northwestern turnovers and 11-for-28 shooting in the second half.

Rudy Macklin scored 14 of his 18 points in the second half and DeWayne Scales added 17 as LSU outlasted stubborn Tulane. After a 43-43 halftime tie, LSU opened a 10-point lead, only to see the Green Wave cut the margin to one. Then the Tigers pulled away to a 78-71 lead before a final Tulane surge fell one point short again.

Sophomore Mark Aguirre scored 26 points and Clyde Bradshaw added 18 against Wisconsin as DePaul gave Coach Ray Meyer his 598th college victory, the most of any active coach.

Heralded centers paced the victories for Syracuse and Purdue. Six-foot-11 Roosevelt Bouie, known as a defensive specialist, tallied 21 points and 12 rebounds as Syracuse bombed St. Francis and 7-1 Joe Barry Carroll scored 41 points as Purdue routed Southeastern Louisiana.

Virginia led 21-9 in the first half, but had to battle to the

Baseball's Best Pitcher All Dressed Up, No Place To Go

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TORONTO (AP) — Baseball's best pitcher over the last decade was all dressed up today with no place to go — a pawn of Baltimore's tight-fisted salary policy.

"It's not that I am unhappy with Baltimore — it's a great city and I am one of its strongest boosters," said Jim Palmer, three-time Cy Young winner of the American League champion Orioles, who in a unique move has offered himself up as trade bait.

"But I am aggravated because I feel I am grossly underpaid and have been for most of my career."

Few people will question that. Only this week, in the midst of the annual baseball meetings here, Palmer was officially proclaimed the winningest pitcher of the 1970s, compiling 186 victories. During that period, he was a 20-game winner in eight of the 10 seasons, pitched in five World Series and registered 44 shutouts, a record unmatched in the majors.

Yet, going into a new season and new decade, he faced the prospect of a $30,000 cut in his already sub-standard $260,000 salary.

"It's automatic under my contract because I pitched in only 23 games," he said. "I was bothered with a sore shoulder from June to September but I had my full strength at the end and contributed to the Orioles in both the playoffs and the World Series."

"At 34, I am sure I have several profitable years left in my system."

Unable to convince the Orioles that his present contract with two years to run should be upgraded at least to a plateau of respectability, he requested that he be put on the open market.

"I initiated it," Palmer said from Baltimore before setting out for the Super Stars competition in the Bahamas. "I have to probe new alternatives. Can you name another pitcher in baseball who will take a $30,000 cut this year?"

The tall, stylish right-hander said he felt he had become a villain in the eyes of both Oriole fans and management because of his persistent pressure for a salary commensurate with his contributions.

"That's why I got an agent this year," he said.

Palmer's agent is Edward J. Keating of Cleveland. He disclosed that both Kansas City and the California Angels were interested in Palmer. Nothing had developed as the meetings approached Friday's end.

That is understandable. Palmer is a nugget that shouldn't come cheaply on today's inflated market.

Recently the Angels' fireballer Nolan Ryan (only twice a 20-game winner in 12 years) signed for $1 million a year for four years.

"That doesn't bother me," Palmer said. "I have no envy. What bugs me is that there are 20 or 30 pitchers making more money than I am — have been for three years or more. I only want what I think I deserve."

The Orioles are notorious for their payroll conservatism, refusing to join in the free agency sweepstakes.

Lobos May Fold Up If Too Many Can't Play

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The new University of New Mexico athletic director says the Lobo basketball program he inherited might have to fold up for the season if too many players are declared ineligible.

"But that would be an absolute last resort if we did that," John Bridgers said Wednesday, his first day on the job. "We would really lose ground if we did that."

Bridgers admitted that if the Lobos are left with only the remnants of a team, "I wouldn't foresee a very good season. That's for sure."

"I would foresee that we would do our best with what we have available," he added. "Check out some of those intramural champions from last year, maybe.

UNM officials announced Wednesday they are looking into the possibility that as many as seven more Lobo basketball players might be ineligible.

One player, Craig Gilbert, already has been declared ineligible by the university in the wake of a federal investigation into possible transcript-fixing involving junior college transfers.

Bridgers, like other officials, declined to divulge the names of the seven basketball players whose eligibility was being questioned.

He said he expected the checks to be completed "within the next three or four days."

But if the eligibility questions can't be answered prior to Saturday night's game at New Mexico State, Bridgers said it's possible the players could be held out of the game.

Another official, Dean of Admissions Robert Weaver, also said that was a possibility and added, "if their transcripts were later proven to be OK, we'd reinstate them later."

Bridgers, 57, arrived in Albuquerque late Tuesday night. He met twice with university President William E. Davis Wednesday before facing news reporters.

"I know there are a lot of things to do and a lot of problems to solve," he said. "I just hope we can start today and start making progress toward solving them."

"I'm afraid I really can't give you all the solutions at one time," added the former Florida State University athletic director. "It's going to take a little while to do."

Bridgers accepted the UNM post last Friday, the same day basketball Coach Norm Ellenberger and Manny Goldstein, his chief recruiting assistant, were suspended indefinitely.

Miss Piggy

Muppet Miss Piggy Gives New Meaning To Swines

Up until three years ago, pigs were mainly associated with oinking, waving "Th-th-that's all, folks," and having their houses blown down by huffing and puffing wolves.

Along came Jim Henson's Miss Piggy "Muppet" and changed all that with her glamour, style and alluring femininity. The viewers of TV's "Muppet Show" and, most recently, "The Muppet Movie" were instantly captivated by her many charms.

Fisher-Price has captured all of the snouted beauty and personality of Hollywood's newest star in the new Miss Piggy doll which also doubles as a hand puppet. With face of soft vinyl, big blue eyes of molded plastic, firmly-rooted nylon hair, and body of hollow, foam-backed fabric bedecked with a fashionable silk-like orchid gown, the 15-inch creation is fast becoming the best-selling plush item and puppet in the industry.

Miss Piggy is the newest of five plush doll-puppets in the Fisher-Price "Muppet" line and one of the company's lead items this Christmas. Her beautifully molded face and form are stunning and made with Fisher-Price's traditional quality and durability. Everything is firmly attached and flame-retardant and, in addition, the doll is machine-washable and dryer-safe since Miss Piggy is sure to attract lots of jammy hugs and kisses from her young admirers.

While the largest percentage of "Muppet" toy fans is in the three-to-seven-year-old range, there is another significant block of "Muppet" lovers from age nine to adult.

Fisher-Price is licensed by Jim Henson, creator of the "Muppets," to produce and market "Muppet" toys in North America. The first "Muppet" toys were introduced by Fisher-Price in 1977 and from the very beginning each detail of Kermit the Frog, Miss Piggy, Fozzie Bear, Rowlf the Dog, Scooter, Gonzo and Animal has been meticulously designed in accordance with specifications of the Henson organization.

Kentucky Finally Has Water Qualities Set By 1950 General Assembly

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — It took more than 20 years to do it, but Kentucky finally has the statewide water quality standards mandated by the 1950 General Assembly.

Approval of the regulations represents a major step for the environment, said Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Secretary Frank Harscher.

The Administrative Regulations Review Subcommittee approved the proposed regulations Wednesday after more than two hours of debate.

The standards classify the state's streams and rivers and provide for their protection from further pollution.

"I'm absolutely elated," Harscher said in an interview after the committee action. "They said it couldn't be done," he added, referring to numerous unsuccessful efforts to enact water quality rules.

Robert Gable, chairman of the board of Stearns Coal and Lumber Co., testified against the regulations, saying they could be applied in an arbitrary manner.

"The regulations are totally without detail and the ultimate determination of a violation would be left to the whim of the administrator," he said.

"What these regulations mean is that the department will make up the law as they go along," he said. "Under these standards, no man can know what he is required to do."

Gable said the regulations are more stringent than federal standards, and said state law does not give the department authority to promulgate such rules.

However, Rep. William Brinkley, D-Madisonville, chairman of the subcommittee, said he felt the department does have the authority to issue the regulations.

Both he and Rep. Albert Robinson, R-London, said the proposed rules appear to conform to legislative intent and statutory authority. The subcommittee only has the authority to reject regulations when it is determined that they exceed statutory authority or fail to comply with legislative intent.

Harscher said the regulations could be written by either the "raised eyebrow" or the "cookbook" approach, but that the department tried to steer a course between the two extremes.

"I think we have given these regulations enough specificity and enough flexibility to achieve a workable balance," Harscher told the committee. "We gathered a lot of opinions from both sides before we wrote these regulations."

Mike McGhee, a federal Environmental Protection Agency spokesman, said Kentucky's regulations do not appear overly stringent and are comparable to those issued by other states.

Shah Rules Out Four Nations

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, resting and playing chess in the unseasonably warm Texas sun, has ruled out four nations often mentioned as possible havens — Egypt, South Africa, Panama and The Bahamas, a spokesman says.

But the shah is withholding comment on the taking of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in his homeland and on allegations against him, at least until after the Americans in Iran are freed, adviser Robert Armao said Wednesday.

Armao's comments were the first public remarks since the shah slipped into Lackland Air Force Base on Sunday for an indefinite stay following cancer and gallbladder treatments in New York.

"It has been very hard for him to remain silent with the accusations being hurled at him," Armao told reporters. "The shah continues to pray for the safe return of the American hostages, and for his country. For him to say more at this time would be insensitive and inflammatory."

Meanwhile, Iranian students at San Antonio College said having the shah in the United States is like giving refuge to Adolf Hitler.

And Armao described the ailing shah as "saddened" by Sen. Edward Kennedy's claim this week that he "ran one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind."

"The shah, eventually, when this crisis ends and the hostages are safe and sound, will be speaking out on the situation. He'll assume a prominent role in answering those accusations," Armao said.

The shah has been at the center of an international crisis since militants took over the embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4 to demand the return of the deposed monarch for trial.

The United States is aiding the shah in his search for a permanent place to live. Egypt has offered asylum, but Armao said the shah fears he would inflame Middle East tensions if he moved there.

Armao also said the shah

will not be going to Panama, South Africa or The Bahamas — three countries mentioned as likely refuges.

Armao said the stay at Lackland is temporary, but added, "At the moment, we have no time frame for his departure."

Armao and informed sources say the shah spends his time reading, playing chess, visiting by phone with friends and his children and walking outdoors in the 70-degree temperatures. He is being treated as an outpatient at the base hospital.

Henderson Residents Gather To Show Concern

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — More than 60 Henderson residents gathered at a local church to show their concern for U.S. hostages in Iran through prayer.

The community worship service Tuesday night, which ended a 24-hour prayer vigil, took place at Immanuel Baptist Church and involved 11 area churches.

Those who attended prayed for the captors as well as the captives.

"This Christmas season, we must all accept the challenge to become agents of peace through understanding," said the Rev. Don Davis.

"This understanding must be extended to not only our hostages in Iran, but to those who hold the captives."

Residents attending the community worship service joined hands and voiced their hopes and fears aloud, as they prayed the hostages' safety, for their families and for the president.

"The Advent season is a time for peace and good will for all men on earth," Davis said. "We all pray that during this Advent season someone will come to set the hostages free."

Davis said the crisis in Iran "is an encounter of two distinct ideologies," and that he hopes the leaders of the world will consider all their options before taking any actions to retaliate.

"How far can any nation go before their actions have a boomerang effect," he asked.

"Let us all hope for a peaceful solution to this crisis. We must not forget the hostages who walk in darkness and are tossed between despair and hope every day of their captivity."

Davis also told worshippers that there is reason for rejoicing, even in troubled times.

"It is good that people of all beliefs and clergy from the different churches in Henderson can unite in the cause of peace and reconciliation," he said.

And he urged residents not to forget the other events of the world.

Celtics Lose First Home Game; 76ers Lose Goal

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Boston Celtics have lost their first game of the season at home and the Philadelphia 76ers have lost their first backboard.

Darryl Dawkins, the 6-foot-11½, 252-pound center who has specialized in awe-inspiring slam dunks throughout his career with the 76ers, pulled the rim off the backboard with a dunk during Philadelphia's 132-120 victory over the San Antonio Spurs Wednesday night. The resulting hole caused the glass to shower down on top of Dawkins, who also shattered a backboard at Kansas City Nov. 13.

"It's an exciting thing, bringing down the hoop," said Dawkins. "My contract is coming to an end and maybe I'll be able to put more people into the arena—and the more money I bring out, the more money I might get in my contract."

Meanwhile, the Atlanta Hawks handed the Celtics their first National Basketball Association loss in 12 games at home this season as John

Drew scored 22 points, all in the second half, and Eddie Johnson added 21 in a 120-92 wipeout.

In other NBA games, the New Jersey Nets whipped the Phoenix Suns 115-100, the New York Knicks outlasted the Washington Bullets 107-104, the Indiana Pacers beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-99, the Los Angeles Lakers outscored the Houston Rockets 116-114, the Kansas City Kings topped the Detroit Pistons 109-93, the Denver Nuggets swamped the Milwaukee Bucks 123-107, the Golden State Warriors toppled the Chicago Bulls 97-90 and the Seattle SuperSonics tackled the Utah Jazz 115-96.

Dawkins' dunk with 6:42 left in the game was the 13th and 14th points of 20 he scored for the game, which had to be delayed for 1 hour, 14 minutes while workers installed a new backboard.

Coach Billy Cunningham said he would "never tell Darryl not to dunk for two reasons. One, that's a high percentage shot and two, it's intimidating...players have a tendency to back off."

Julius Erving led Philadelphia scorers with 28 points, while George Gervin had 42 for San Antonio.

Nuggets 123, Bucks 107
Milwaukee had swamped Denver by 57 points in a pair of October victories, but the Nuggets got great inside play from Dan Issel and George Johnson to turn the tables this time.

Issel collected a game-high 36 points and 16 rebounds, while Johnson, subbing for the injured George McGinnis, scored 15 points and also had 16 rebounds.

Lakers 116, Rockets 114
Norm Nixon scored 26 points, including the game-winning basket with 25 seconds left after a Spencer Haywood steal. Los Angeles had to rebound from a 107-102 deficit and the loss of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar after the Lakers' center was hit with his second technical foul.

Kings 109, Pistons 93
Bill Robinson led seven Kansas City players in double figures with 20 points as Detroit lost its 11th straight game on the road.

Pacers 118, Cavaliers 99
Mickey Johnson scored 24 points and James Edwards added 22 as Indiana fought back from a 13-point second-quarter deficit against Cleveland.

Johnson, Edwards and Billy Knight had six points apiece as Indiana outscored the Cavs 20-9 in the final 5½ minutes of the first half to erase most of a 52-39 deficit.

Nets 115, Suns 100
Mike Newlin scored 29 points and rookie Calvin Natt added 27, including eight straight in the third quarter to stretch a slim 63-62 New Jersey lead to 71-62. The Nets stretched the margin to 15 in the first minute of the fourth quarter when Newlin hit the first of two three-point goals.

Knicks 107, Bullets 104
Mike Richardson hit a driving layup at the final buzzer and converted a free throw after time expired as New York withstood a Washington comeback from a 15-point deficit. Ray Williams and Bill Cartwright scored 25 points apiece to lead the Knicks.

Warriors 97, Bulls 90
Sonny Parker, switched from forward to guard in a lineup change, responded with 23 points as Golden State broke a five-game losing streak with a victory over Chicago.

Sonics 115, Jazz 96
Gus Williams, leading the lightning-quick Seattle fast break, scored 32 points and the Sonics' defense held the NBA's second-leading scorer, Adrian Dantley, to 19 points.

Transfer A Headline Writer AND Coach's Dream

Hoops Sinks Two To Give SMU Upset

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

A basketball player named Ollie Hoops has to be a headline writer's dream. He also is turning out to be a dream come true for Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen.

Hoops, a junior college transfer, combined with another SMU newcomer, freshman Dave Pehler, to lead the Mustangs to an 89-88 upset victory over 19th-ranked Kansas in college basketball Wednesday night.

Kansas led 88-87 in the final minute before Hoops snagged an errant pass and was driving for a layup when he drew a foul with 15 seconds remaining. He calmly sank the free throws to give SMU the upset victory.

Led by Darnell Valentine, who scored 25 points, the Jayhawks had a 14-point lead with seven minutes left, but Hoops and Pehler paced a comeback. Brad Branson scored 17 points, Hoops 16 and Pehler 14 for the Mustangs.

"Pehler and Hoops, Pehler and Hoops, that's who did it in the end," said Allen. "That's why I recruited those two guys because they shoot the eyes out of the basket. We struggled the whole ball game, but in the end it was a great clutch play that finally won it."

"This is the biggest moment of my life," said Hoops. "I never had that much pressure on me before and performed so well. I really wanted to slam dunk the ball on that last one, but I'll take the foul shots."

Most of the other members of The Associated Press Top 20 in action Wednesday night won easily. No. 2 Duke crushed Princeton 81-45, No. 4 Notre Dame blasted Northwestern 73-56, sixth-ranked Louisiana State edged Tulane 80-79 and 10th-ranked DePaul trounced

Wisconsin 90-77.

In the Second 10, No. 11 Syracuse manhandled St. Francis, Pa., 93-60, 12th-ranked Purdue blasted Southeast Louisiana 105-59, 13th-rated Virginia nipped Temple 58-52, No. 14 Louisville thrashed Tennessee-Chattanooga 87-63, No. 15 Oregon State outscored Hawaii-Hilo 104-80 and No. 17 Georgetown blitzed Maryland 83-71.

Duke got 17, 13 and 12 points, respectively from its front line of Mike Gminski, Gene Banks and Kenny Derrard in overwhelming Princeton. The Blue Devils, 4-0, had a 13-point lead after only four minutes and expanded it to 42-18 at halftime.

Kelly Tripucka scored 19 points and Notre Dame's rugged zone defense forced 26 Northwestern turnovers and 11-for-28 shooting in the second half.

Rudy Macklin scored 14 of his 18 points in the second half and DeWayne Scales added 17 as LSU outlasted stubborn Tulane. After a 43-43 halftime tie, LSU opened a 10-point lead, only to see the Green Wave cut the margin to one. Then the Tigers pulled away to a 78-71 lead before a final Tulane surge fell one point short again.

Sophomore Mark Aguirre scored 26 points and Clyde Bradshaw added 18 against Wisconsin as DePaul gave Coach Ray Meyer his 598th college victory, the most of any active coach.

Heralded centers paced the victories for Syracuse and Purdue. Six-foot-11 Roosevelt Bouie, known as a defensive specialist, tallied 21 points and 12 rebounds as Syracuse bombed St. Francis and 7-1 Joe Barry Carroll scored 41 points as Purdue routed Southeastern Louisiana.

Virginia led 21-9 in the first half, but had to battle to the

Baseball's Best Pitcher All Dressed Up, No Place To Go

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TORONTO (AP) — Baseball's best pitcher over the last decade was all dressed up today with no place to go — a pawn of Baltimore's tight-fisted salary policy.

"It's not that I am unhappy with Baltimore — it's a great city and I am one of its strongest boosters," said Jim Palmer, three-time Cy Young winner of the American League champion Orioles, who in a unique move has offered himself up as trade bait.

"But I am aggravated because I feel I am grossly underpaid and have been for most of my career."

Few people will question that. Only this week, in the midst of the annual baseball meetings here, Palmer was officially proclaimed the winningest pitcher of the 1970s, compiling 186 victories.

During that period, he was a 20-game winner in eight of the 10 seasons, pitched in five World Series and registered 44 shutouts, a record unmatched in the majors.

Yet, going into a new season and new decade, he faced the prospect of a $30,000 cut in his already sub-standard $260,000 salary.

"It's automatic under my contract because I pitched in only 23 games," he said. "I was bothered with a sore shoulder from June to September but I had my full strength at the end and contributed to the Orioles in both the playoffs and the World Series."

"At 34, I am sure I have several profitable years left in my system."

Unable to convince the Orioles that his present contract with two years to run should be upgraded at least to a plateau of respectability, he requested that he be put on the open market.

"I initiated it," Palmer said from Baltimore before setting out for the Super Stars competition in the Bahamas. "I have to probe new alternatives. Can you name another pitcher in baseball who will take a $30,000 cut this year?"

The tall, stylish right-hander said he felt he had become a villain in the eyes of both Oriole fans and management because of his persistent pressure for a salary commensurate with his contributions.

"That's why I got an agent this year," he said.

Palmer's agent is Edward J. Keating of Cleveland. He disclosed that both Kansas City and the California Angels were interested in Palmer. Nothing had developed as the meetings approached Friday's end.

That is understandable. Palmer is a nidget that shouldn't come cheaply on today's inflated market.

Recently the Angels' fireballer Nolan Ryan (only twice a 20-game winner in 12 years) signed for $1 million a year for four years.

"That doesn't bother me," Palmer said. "I have no envy. What bugs me is that there are 20 or 30 pitchers making more money than I am — have been for three years or more. I only want what I think I deserve."

The Orioles are notorious for their payroll conservatism, refusing to join in the free agency sweepstakes.

Lobos May Fold Up If Too Many Can't Play

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.

(AP) — The new University of New Mexico athletic director says the Lobo basketball program he inherited might have to fold up for the season if too many players are declared ineligible.

"But that would be an absolute last resort if we did that," John Bridgers said Wednesday, his first day on the job. "We would really lose ground if we did that."

Bridgers admitted that if the Lobos are left with only the remnants of a team, "I wouldn't foresee a very good season. That's for sure."

"I would foresee that we would do our best with what we have available," he added.

"Check out some of those intramural champions from last year, maybe.

UNM officials announced Wednesday they are looking into the possibility that as many as seven more Lobo basketball players might be ineligible.

One player, Craig Gilbert, already has been declared ineligible by the university in the wake of a federal investigation into possible transcript-fixing involving junior college transfers.

Bridgers, like other officials, declined to divulge the names of the seven basketball players whose eligibility was being questioned.

He said he expected the checks to be completed "within the next three or four days."

But if the eligibility questions can't be answered prior to Saturday night's game at New Mexico State, Bridgers said it's possible the players could be held out of the game.

Another official, Dean of Admissions Robert Weaver, also said that was a possibility and added, "if their transcripts were later proven to be OK, we'd reinstate them later."

Bridgers, 57, arrived in Albuquerque late Tuesday night. He met twice with university President William E. Davis Wednesday before facing news reporters.

"I know there are a lot of things to do and a lot of problems to solve," he said. "I just hope we can start today and start making progress toward solving them."

"I'm afraid I really can't give you all the solutions at one time," added the former Florida State University athletic director. "It's going to take a little while to do."

Bridgers accepted the UNM post last Friday, the same day basketball Coach Norm Ellenberger and Manny Goldstein, his chief recruiting assistant, were suspended indefinitely.

Miss Piggy

Muppet Miss Piggy Gives New Meaning To Swines

Up until three years ago, pigs were mainly associated with oinking, waving "Th-th-that's all, folks," and having their houses blown down by huffing and puffing wolves.

Along came Jim Henson's Miss Piggy "Muppet" and changed all that with her glamour, style and alluring femininity. The viewers of TV's "Muppet Show" and, most recently, "The Muppet Movie" were instantly captivated by her many charms.

Fisher-Price has captured all of the snouted beauty and personality of Hollywood's newest star in the new Miss Piggy doll which also doubles as a hand puppet. With face of soft vinyl, big blue eyes of molded plastic, firmly-rooted nylon hair, and body of hollow, foam-backed fabric bedecked with a fashionable silk-like orchid gown, the 15-inch creation is fast becoming the best-selling plush item and puppet in the industry.

Miss Piggy is the newest of five plush doll-puppets in the Fisher-Price "Muppet" line and one of the company's lead items this Christmas. Her beautifully molded face and form are stunning and made with Fisher-Price's traditional quality and durability. Everything is firmly attached and flame-retardant and, in addition, the doll is machine-washable and dryer-safe since Miss Piggy is sure to attract lots of jammy hugs and kisses from her young admirers.

While the largest percentage of "Muppet" toy fans is in the three-to-seven-year-old range, there is another significant block of "Muppet" lovers of age nine to adult.

Fisher-Price is licensed by Jim Henson, creator of the "Muppets," to produce and market "Muppet" toys in North America. The first "Muppet" toys were introduced by Fisher-Price in 1977 and from the very beginning each detail of Kermit the Frog, Miss Piggy, Fozzie Bear, Rowlf the Dog, Scooter, Gonzo and Animal has been meticulously designed in accordance with specifications of the Henson organization.

Kentucky Finally Has Water Qualities Set By 1950 General Assembly

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — It took more than 20 years to do it, but Kentucky finally has the statewide water quality standards mandated by the 1950 General Assembly.

Approval of the regulations represents a major step for the environment, said Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Secretary Frank Harscher.

The Administrative Regulations Review Subcommittee approved the proposed regulations Wednesday after more than two hours of debate.

The standards classify the state's streams and rivers and provide for their protection from further pollution.

"I'm absolutely elated," Harscher said in an interview after the committee action. "They said it couldn't be done," he added, referring to numerous unsuccessful efforts to enact water quality rules.

Robert Gable, chairman of the board of Stearns Coal and Lumber Co., testified against the regulations, saying they could be applied in an arbitrary manner.

"The regulations are totally without detail and the ultimate determination of a violation would be left to the whim of the administrator," he said.

"What these regulations mean is that the department will make up the law as they go along," he said. "Under these standards, no man can know what he is required to do." Gable said the regulations are more stringent than federal standards, and said state law does not give the department authority to promulgate such rules.

However, Rep. William Brinkley, D-Madisonville, chairman of the subcommittee, said he felt the department does have the authority to issue the regulations.

Both he and Rep. Albert Robinson, R-London, said the proposed rules appear to conform to legislative intent and statutory authority. The subcommittee only has the authority to reject regulations when it is determined that they exceed statutory authority or fail to comply with legislative intent.

Harscher said the regulations could be written by either the "raised eyebrow" or the "cookbook" approach, but that the department tried to steer a course between the two extremes.

"I think we have given these regulations enough specificity and enough flexibility to achieve a workable balance," Harscher told the committee. "We gathered a lot of opinions from both sides before we wrote these regulations."

Mike McGhee, a federal Environmental Protection Agency spokesman, said Kentucky's regulations do not appear overly stringent and are comparable to those issued by other states.

Shah Rules Out Four Nations

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, resting and playing chess in the unseasonably warm Texas sun, has ruled out four nations often mentioned as possible havens — Egypt, South Africa, Panama and The Bahamas, a spokesman says.

But the shah is withholding comment on the taking of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in his homeland and on allegations against him, at least until after the Americans in Iran are freed, adviser Robert Armao said Wednesday.

Armao's comments were the first public remarks since the shah slipped into Lackland Air Force Base on Sunday for an indefinite stay following cancer and gallbladder treatments in New York.

"It has been very hard for him to remain silent with the accusations being hurled at him," Armao told reporters. "The shah continues to pray for the safe return of the American hostages, and for his country. For him to say more at this time would be insensitive and inflammatory."

Meanwhile, Iranian students at San Antonio College said having the shah in the United States is like giving refuge to Adolf Hitler.

And Armao described the ailing shah as "saddened" by Sen. Edward Kennedy's claim this week that he "ran one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind."

"The shah, eventually, when this crisis ends and the hostages are safe and sound, will be speaking out on the situation. He'll assume a prominent role in answering those accusations," Armao said.

The shah has been at the center of an international crisis since militants took over the embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4 to demand the return of the deposed monarch for trial.

The United States is aiding the shah in his search for a permanent place to live. Egypt has offered asylum, but Armao said the shah fears he would inflame Middle East tensions if he moved there.

Armao also said the shah

will not be going to Panama, South Africa or The Bahamas — three countries mentioned as likely refuges.

Armao said the stay at Lackland is temporary, but added, "At the moment, we have no time frame for his departure."

Armao and informed sources say the shah spends his time reading, playing chess, visiting by phone with friends and his children and walking outdoors in the 70-degree temperatures. He is being treated as an outpatient at the base hospital.

Henderson Residents Gather To Show Concern

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — More than 60 Henderson residents gathered at a local church to show their concern for U.S. hostages in Iran through prayer.

The community worship service Tuesday night, which ended a 24-hour prayer vigil, took place at Immanuel Baptist Church and involved 11 area churches.

Those who attended prayed for the captors as well as the captives.

"This Christmas season, we must all accept the challenge to become agents of peace through understanding," said the Rev. Don Davis.

"This understanding must be extended to not only our hostages in Iran, but to those who hold the captives."

Residents attending the community worship service joined hands and voiced their hopes and fears aloud, as they prayed the hostages' safety, for their families and for the president.

"The Advent season is a time for peace and good will for all men on earth," Davis said. "We all pray that during this Advent season someone will come to set the hostages free."

Davis said the crisis in Iran "is an encounter of two distinct ideologies," and that he hopes the leaders of the world will consider all their options before taking any actions to retaliate.

"How far can any nation go before their actions have a boomerang effect," he asked.

"Let us all hope for a peaceful solution to this crisis. We must not forget the hostages who walk in darkness and are tossed between despair and hope every day of their captivity."

Davis also told worshippers that there is reason for rejoicing, even in troubled times.

"It is good that people of all beliefs and clergy from the different churches in Henderson can unite in the cause of peace and reconciliation," he said.

And he urged residents not to forget the other events of the world.

Phyllis Hints That Cheerleaders May Be 'Surprise' At Inaugural

By MARIA BRADEN

Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Phyllis George Brown has hinted that there will be several surprises during next Tuesday's inaugural parade — and one of them may be an appearance by the Dallas Cowboys cheerleaders.

Mrs. Brown, wife of Gov.-elect John Y. Brown Jr., said Wednesday that negotiations are continuing with the cheerleaders to send representatives of "the state I came from."

She said the attraction should swell the size of the crowd, but quipped, "however, when it's cold, they do wear long johns."

Mrs. Brown told a news conference held to announce details of Inaugural Day events that she is "saving some surprises for John."

She and coordinator Frank Metz urged Kentuckians from across the state to attend the festivities.

"This is a day for the people of Kentucky — for all the people of Kentucky," Metz said.

He said the cost of any events not open to the public would be paid by the Browns or by the Democratic Party. He said he would have an estimate of total costs by the end of the week.

"We're doing a first-class day, but we're mindful of the costs involved," he said.

Events are to begin in Louisville with a worship service at the Walnut Street Baptist Church. Members of the Brown family will assist in the service.

The Browns then will travel to Frankfort for a brunch at the Frankfort Country Club for about 600 county coordinators and other campaign workers.

The two-hour inaugural parade is scheduled to begin at noon along Capital Avenue, with swearing-in ceremonies at 2 p.m. on the capitol steps. Brown will use his late mother's Bible.

The Browns will host a private reception following the swearing-in at the Orlando-Brown house in Frankfort's historic district, but Mrs. Brown said the public is invited to attend a reception from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the lieutenant governor's mansion, hosted by Lt. Gov.-elect Martha Layne Collins.

A reception is scheduled at the Capitol at 7 p.m., followed by the grand march and inaugural ball at 8 p.m. The Lexington Philharmonic will play until 11 p.m., when the Trendells take over.

A free concert featuring Tom T. Hall and Boots Randolph will be held at the Capital Plaza Sports and Convention center at 9 p.m.

Mrs. Brown said she is giving a private sit-down dinner for 125 couples at the governor's mansion from 10 p.m. to midnight, but that she and her husband will also make appearances at the concert and ball during that time.

Mrs. Brown also said she and her husband would join Gov. and Mrs. Carroll at the official Christmas tree lighting ceremony 7 p.m. Sunday on the Capitol steps, and she announced plans for the first St. Patrick's Day parade to be held in Frankfort March 17, the Brown's first wedding anniversary.

All He Wanted Was Non-Smoking Seat

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Lent says all he wanted was a non-smoking seat on the Washington-to-New York shuttle flight. When the smoke cleared, he had it — on another plane.

Capt. Larry Kinsey interrupted the 52-minute flight Wednesday, landing at Baltimore-Washington International Airport in Linthicum, Md., after quarreling broke out between smokers and nonsmokers.

Witnesses said the trouble began when Lent, a non-smoker who was sitting in the smoking section, demanded that his area be made non-smoking. Flight attendants complied, but some passengers in nearby seats apparently were not aware of the change and lit up.

Eastern spokesman Gil Perliroth said Lent, a Washington tax attorney, became angry, but turned down a seat offered on the next flight out.

Meanwhile, the flight took off, and attendants asked, but could find no volunteers to change seats with Lent, Perliroth said.

Kinsey, mindful that federal rules require enough non-smoking room for non-smokers, emerged from the forward hatch and ordered those around Lent to stop puffing.

The smokers reportedly remained defiant.

"I cannot have an insurrection on my aircraft," Kinsey reportedly said, and brought the 727 and its 177 passengers down.

Some of the passengers canceled their flights at Baltimore-Washington, and others were put on a different plane with a new crew, arriving at La Guardia Airport nearly three hours late.

"It was silly and childish," said passenger Emory Kristof of Washington. "I haven't seen a display like this since kindergarten."

Kristof said Lent threatened legal action because those around him were "assaulting him with smoke."

A senior flight attendant quoted Lent as saying, "I'll show you how it's done," just prior to the ruckus.

But Lent, reached by telephone Wednesday, denied making the comment, saying, all he "wanted was a non-smoking seat. Once I got that, I was out of it. The rest of what happened didn't involve me."

Students Wanting Overpass Built At Fatality Site

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Students at North Junior High School are organizing to support construction of a pedestrian overpass on the street in front of the school, the site of a fatal accident earlier this year.

Student Tony Galbraith submitted a petition Tuesday to The Henderson Gleaner containing the signatures of 159 North students.

The petition voiced support of the overpass, saying the students feel that more accidents "are sure to happen" without the construction.

Carl Green, 13, was killed earlier this year in a bicycle-truck accident in front of the school.

City, county and school officials have urged the state to include a pedestrian overpass in plans for widening the street from two to four lanes. But their efforts have been unsuccessful.

Committee's Consensus Is That Senate Bill Needs Amendment

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The consensus of the Special Committee on Student Fee Structure is that Senate Bill 291, which was enacted by the 1978 General Assembly, is in need of amendment.

The bill, which became statute in 1978, was intended to curtail the increasingly high cost of sending children to public schools. It provided an increase in the number of dollars per pupil in average daily attendance from $5 to $20.44. It also stipulated that no fees could be charged to a student during the course of the minimum school day.

This provision was intended to eliminate charges for supplemental workbooks, lab fees, locker fees and fees charged to help subsidize regular classroom activities.

Subsequent to the bill's passage, the attorney general's office published an opinion interpreting the statute to include such fees as those charged for school assemblies, children's theatre and field trips.

The statute is followed according to the attorney general's interpretation rather than the intent of the legislature when it passed the bill into law, the committee has found. The end result of this interpretation is a sharp decline in cultural enrichment activities students are able to attend.

"The original intent of the legislation was to get fees out of the regular school day. 'I don't think it was ever anyone's intention to curtail cultural activities,'" said Fred Johnson, Department of Education.

Wanda Dotson, a Frankfort parent serving on the committee, pointed out, "According to the figures from the Franklin County School system, field trips have been cut down 50 percent and assembly programs have been cut out almost totally since the passage of the bill."

Reps. Stephen Wilborn, D-Shelbyville, and Buel Guy, D-Scottsville, will co-sponsor a bill in the 1980 session which will amend the current statute. The pre-filed bill, if passed, will allow a student to be charged a fee for cultural enrichment activities or programs on a voluntary basis, providing the activity has been approved by the local board of education and is not an athletic activity.

A provision was included which requires the local school boards to arrange to pay charges for students financially unable to do so themselves.

Rep. Wilborn said what is needed is legislation that would "expand the range of permissible activities for which fees could be charged. We need to focus on the definition of fees."

Mark Madison, theater and television instructor of Paducah Tilghman High School, addressed the committee. He was accompanied by three students from Tilghman who participate in the children's theatre program in the school.

Brad Trevathan, a senior at Tilghman and participant in the drama program there, said, "We are here basically to air our grievances with Senate Bill 291, specifically the clause which states that no student may be charged a fee for an assembly program. This has proved to be ruinous to our program."

He explained that Tilghman has a theater arts program which in the past has been supported by a 5-cent admission fee from students within the McCracken County School System and 25 cents for students who come from surrounding counties to view their productions. Since the bill was enacted prohibiting student fees, attendance from neighboring school systems has ceased.

Madison, the sponsor of the Tilghman program, called for funds to be designated to carry out cultural enrichment programs in the schools.

The committee agreed to recommend to the full Education Committee that the requirement be dropped which stipulates that local school boards must account for $5 of the $20.44 appropriated per pupil in average daily attendance.

The committee will hold its final meeting Dec. 14 to discuss supporting Rep. Wilborn and Guy's bill.

Officials Say Drugs Can Aid High Blood Pressure

By WARREN E. LEARY, AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government health officials say they have solid proof that drug therapy significantly reduces deaths related to high blood pressure.

In announcing the results of a major, five-year nationwide trial, officials on Nov. 27 urged doctors to treat all degrees of high blood pressure aggressively through drugs and other means.

Many doctors do not advise treatment for people with mild or borderline high blood pressure and a chronic problem with those on treatment is that they don't regularly take their medicine.

"If there is a message from this study, it is that those who have high blood pressure should get on treatment and stay on treatment," said Dr. Robert I. Levy, director of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute.

The Hypertension Detection and Follow-up Program is a $70 million project conducted with 11,000 patients at 14 medical centers.

It found that death from all causes was 17 percent lower over a five-year period for hypertension patients getting consistent drug treatment when compared with those getting typical treatment from their doctors.

The study also found that for patients with mild hypertension, those getting systematic treatment had 20 percent fewer deaths from all causes than those not getting effective treatment.

Levy said treating mild hypertension should begin with weight reduction and reducing salt in the diet. If this doesn't bring blood pressure down to normal, then drug treatment may be advised, he added.

High blood pressure is a leading contributor to stroke, heart disease and kidney problems. About 35 million Americans have definite hypertension and another 25 million have less severe, borderline high blood pressure, Levy said.

The cause of the condition is unknown and the incidence is 50 percent higher in black Americans than whites.

10-Year-Old Boys Also Need Love

FRANKFORT, Ky. — By the time a boy is 10 years old, he's already too old for a lot of things. But he's not too old to need love.

Scott was 10 and available for adoption. But he was "too old." Most people looking for children to adopt seemed to want babies or toddlers, not 10-year-olds.

So Scott spent most of his life moving from foster home to foster home, wanting and waiting to be adopted into a permanent home.

Last spring, Kentucky's Department for Human Resources began a pilot project to help Scott and other hard-to-place children. The project set out to find permanent adoptive homes for seven Fayette County children classified as "special needs" children. The category includes white children over 9 years of age, black children over the age of 3, any child with emotional, mental or physical handicaps and siblings who need to be brought up together.

The special needs adoption project was just getting started when Carole and Jerry decided to start their family. They were in their early 40s. Carole felt she was too old to have a child of her own, and both she and Jerry felt their lifestyles and careers were too structured to include the constant demands of a baby. They wanted to share their lives with an older child.

A newspaper story about the special needs adoption project caught Jerry's eye. Soon the couple was traveling from their eastern Kentucky home to attend meetings in Lexington with other interested people and Human Resources staff.

Brooke Darrow, a project staff member, thought Scott might be the type of child Jerry and Carole were looking for and that Jerry and Carole might be the type of parents Scott needed.

"We looked for a family that could give a lot of time to Scott," Darrow said. "We looked at their lifestyles and looked for people who could give him the flexibility and training he needs." While most prospective parents request a certain type of child, Darrow said, Carole and Jerry "were open and expressed interest in several of the children, including Scott."

Jerry and Carole first met Scott in June when he lived in a foster home. They took him out to lunch. "It was love at first sight," Carole said. "He was perfectly comfortable with us."

By mid-August, the adoption process was complete and Scott moved from Lexington to an eastern Kentucky community with his new family. "The special needs staff told us we'd have a 'honeymoon' with Scott and then there would be a testing period," Carole said.

Scott readily adjusted to the pace of country life and quickly made new friends. "But we were kind of unprepared for the emotional problems," Carole said.

"Since Scott has been shuffled from one foster home to another, he's never felt he had his own home or family," she said. "He has a poor self-concept, and his initial response to everything is negative."

Jerry noticed Scott had problems relating to his new father. "Most foster homes are made up of complete families, and the mother handles the task of child-raising," he said. From this experience, Jerry said, "Scott really knows how to handle women, but he has trouble reacting with men."

After being part of a family for three months, Scott's adjustment to his new life has been smooth. "His problems are very small," Jerry said. Carole said Scott has accepted his responsibility as part of the family unit. He completes a list of chores, posted daily on the refrigerator, and receives an allowance. He cares for two pets.

Also, he is accepting Jerry as his father and is eager to learn how to use his father's tools and to wear three-piece suits like Jerry's.

Scott also has two new grandmothers and many new friends. "When the phone rings," he mused, "it's always for me." He keeps a scrapbook he calls his life book. He has included snapshots of his dog and cat and a picture of himself with his new mother and father.

"We feel we're pretty lucky to have Scott," Jerry said. "We want other families and other children to get adopted, too." Carole added.

Persons interested in adopting a special needs child can get information through the project's toll-free line, 1-800-432-9346.

Farmer Acquitted Of Wife Abduction To Resume Crusade

By BOB DVORCHAK
Associated Press Writer

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Farmer Robert Bear, acquitted of abducting his wife, says he will continue his crusade against Reformed Mennonites who cast him out of the strict religious sect and made his family sever all ties with him.

"I would say it's a victory of sorts. But I'm still not free, my wife is not free, nor are my children free," Bear said after a Cumberland County jury found him innocent Tuesday of charges of simple assault and false imprisonment.

"I'm losing wars and not winning many battles," he added, his chiseled features showing obvious relief after he wept openly while defending himself in court.

County Judges To Have To Inspect Jails Once A Month

FRANKFORT, Ky. — County judge-executives must inspect their county jails at least once a month but do not have sole authority to either close the jail or prosecute rule violations, according to an attorney general's opinion.

The fiscal court would have authority to close a jail since the court establishes the rules and has continuing responsibility to furnish the facility, said Charles Runyan, assistant deputy attorney general and author of the opinion.

If a jail is closed, however, the fiscal court must provide another jail within a reasonable time as determined by the courts, said Runyan.

The district court would have authority to prosecute violations of jail rules, according to the opinion. A violation of jail rules can only involve a fine of up to $250 but no imprisonment since the offense is outside the penal code, said Runyan.

A jailer who is breaking more than one rule is still only charged with one offense — violation of rules, he said. The jailer is not charged with a separate offense for each broken rule.

The opinion was requested by Carroll C. Fugate, Perry County judge-executive.

Bear, 50, who was excommunicated seven years ago for criticizing church leaders, insisted he is not giving up hope of winning back his wife, Gale, 41, and six children because giving up is "what causes suicide."

"I consider you very fortunate, Mr. Bear," said Judge Harold Sheely after he read the verdict, which was returned after just over an hour of deliberations. "Had I been hearing this case without a jury, I would have found you guilty of false imprisonment."

Though unsure of his next step, Bear did not rule out abducting his wife again. "I'll need to think about that," he said, adding that he expected to be found guilty.

Bear said he still loves his wife and meant her no harm. "I just pity her more. She and our children are much more victim than I am," he told reporters.

Acting as his own attorney and his only defense witness, Bear admitted snatching his wife at a farmers market in August and intentionally holding her in his truck for about 30 minutes.

But he defended his actions by saying that he wanted to expose the greater evil of shunning — a 400-year-old sanction that bans all members of the ultra-conservative church, including his wife and family, from having any business or social contact with him.

Because of the ban, Bear said the only way he can talk to his wife is in a courtroom. Mrs. Bear was not present in the courtroom Tuesday, but on Monday, the first day of the trial, she testified that she had been sexually assaulted once by her husband and feared him.

Bear's only emotional response to the verdict was shaking hands with Taylor Andrews, a public defender appointed by the court as standby counsel.

But he used a handkerchief and his meaty, farmer's hand to wipe away tears during his testimony and closing arguments.

"No matter what you do, you can't free me. Only death can free me," he sobbed to the jury. "What I tried to remedy was far greater than what I had caused. What I tried to do was reunite the family."

Bear had been married for 14 years before his excommunication in 1972. His wife left with the children in 1973. The church does not condone divorce.

Fourth grade students of Cyndi Cohoon at Carter School climaxed a study of Japan with a tasting party recently. The entertainment for the event featured a Japanese puppet show and a song and dance. Above, Erin Brunner narrates the puppet show for the audience of parents.

Deportation Against Iranians To Be Halted By Court Order

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A court order has halted deportation proceedings against about 60 Iranian students in Kentucky.

U.S. District Judge Charles M. Allen said Tuesday that, "in the interest of justice," the status quo of the Iranians should be preserved pending the outcome of a suit challenging deportation now before a federal court in Washington.

Deportation hearings were scheduled to start Tuesday in Louisville, but were delayed pending Allen's decision.

Carl Soreff, the lawyer representing the students, contended that the hearings should be postponed until attorneys could argue whether the presidential order violated the rights of Iranians in the U.S.

Soreff, who made his appeal Tuesday morning, claimed that to hold the hearings now would penalize Iranians who followed the rules, not those who flee U.S. jurisdiction.

He said that the students were often only technical violators of the regulations. Soreff said the students' schools lost their papers or they were in the process of transferring from one school to another, placing them at least officially, "out of status."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Scott Wendelsdorf urged Allen to let the hearings go forward, contending that there was plenty of time and opportunity for Iranians to appeal any adverse hearing decisions.

Wendelsdorf said that to wait would delay the hearings at least one month.

Testimony at the hearing showed that about 66 Iranians in the west Kentucky district of federal court have been found to be subject to deportation hearings.

One of the students involved, Raffik Abnous, showed up at the Louisville office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service several weeks ago and discovered his visa had expired. Abnous said he thought it was good until December.

"Visas are very important," he said. "You don't keep them with you. You don't look at them all the time. You keep them in a safe place. I was surprised at the date."

Abnous attends the University of Louisville Speed Scientific School, where he has a 3.0 grade on a 4-point scale.

His attorney said Abnous teaches several classes in computer science and is to teach additional classes next semester.

The hearing on the temporary restraining order took place in Allen's courtroom, where unusually tight security precautions were in force. Secret Service agents searched visitors and checked press credentials and swept clothing with metal detectors.

Older Patients Can Aid Doctors With Passports

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Going to the doctor? If you're an older Kentuckian, you may want to take a passport.

It's not the kind of passport you need to visit another country. It's a booklet called a "Passport to Good Health Care." By filling out the booklet, older patients can provide physicians with information needed to treat medical problems.

The passport is part of a statewide educational program aimed at educating older persons in the prudent use of medicine. Through local training sessions featuring a 30-minute film, an information packet and other teaching aids, older citizens are learning about generic drugs, drug interactions and related topics.

The program is coordinated by the Department for Human Resources' alcohol and drug branch. Material is provided by the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

Since the project began this summer, 1,000 information packets have been distributed to comprehensive care centers, senior citizens centers and other interested groups. The Division for Mental Health is ordering more packets because of the heavy demand, said Verna Fairchild, acting director of the division for mental health.

Each training session centers around a 30-minute film. The movie dramatizes a visit by an older person to a doctor's office. In one segment of the film, the patient fails to tell the physician about symptoms and allergic reactions to drugs and forgets to mention medicines she already is taking.

A discussion then suggests ways to be better prepared for doctor office visits.

The program has many important points to make, Fairchild said. It notes, for example, that because some drugs react dangerously with others, it may be vital for the physician to know what a patient is taking.

The drug education sessions, scheduled locally through comprehensive care centers, are conducted either by comprehensive care staff members or by knowledgeable members of other agencies, such as senior citizens centers.

Commission Wanting Expansion Of Archives And Records Division

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The state Archives and Records Commission would like to see legislation prepared for expansion of the archives and records division of the state library.

The commission voted recently to accept the recommendations of an archives and records task force calling for the appropriation of supplemental funds for new personnel and equipment for the archives and records section. The task force report will be submitted to the legislature and the new administration for consideration.

New and revised schedules for retention and disposal of public records maintained by state, county and local government agencies were also approved by the archives and records commission.

New record schedules approved include those for two state agencies, Department of Military Affairs and Board of Pharmacy, and the city of Harlan and the administrative affairs office of Eastern Kentucky University.

Model schedules were set up for health departments, including county health departments and district health departments.

Changes were made in the schedules of two state agencies. Court of Justice and the Bureau of Training in the Department of Justice. Revisions were made to the schedules of five University of Kentucky offices: student affairs, university relations, academic affairs, medical center and community colleges.

The group also granted permission to Kentucky State University to destroy medical examination entrance records dated 1956 to 1972.

The state commission determines the fate of most records kept by public agencies and offices. Such records may be stored for specific periods of time, copied or destroyed.

Contamination Caused Following Sunday Fire

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A Sunday morning fire at the Greenville Southern States Cooperative caused a mixture of pesticides and herbicides to contaminate a section of Caney Creek in Muhlenberg County, Secretary Frank Harscher of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection said today.

Water used by firemen to extinguish the blazing building mixed with packages of chemicals and the contents of ruptured drums. A portion of that hazardous mixture flowed into a ditch that leads to Caney Creek.

Due to efforts by an emergency crew from the state Division of Water Quality, the ditch was blocked and a great deal of the chemicals contained. However, it is possible some of the colorless mixture was carried by Caney Creek into Pond Creek, a tributary of the Green River. Samples taken by the Water Quality Division will be analyzed this week.

All area water plant operators were notified by the Division of Sanitary Engineering, although division officials determined there are no water intakes along those sections of the two creeks. The creeks are already acid and contain no fish. No other wildlife problems have been anticipated.

Secretary Harscher assured area residents the spill has been contained, although a method of disposal has not yet been determined. Some of the hazardous mixture remains in the basement of the cooperative building.

State and federal environmental protection officials will stay on the scene until the situation has been resolved.

Chappaquiddick Incident To Be Topic Of Docudrama

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An automobile accident which took the life of a young woman — an accident which has plagued Sen. Edward M. Kennedy ever since — is the subject of what promoter Glenn Stensel bills as an $800,000 "docudrama" entitled "Chappaquiddick."

The film, scheduled for release during the height of presidential campaigning next summer, concerns a 1969 accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by the Massachusetts Democrat plunged from a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Miss Kopechne had been a campaign worker for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

It would be Stensel's first movie — one of a new kind of Hollywood film, produced for less than $1.5 million intended for viewing at drive-ins and suburban theaters.

The actor-turned-producer said he began filming Oct. 1 at Chappaquiddick, off the Massachusetts coast. All the locations involved in the accident were filmed by a camera crew during five days of shooting.

Professional Negotiations To Be Major Issue

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Professional negotiations for public school teachers will be a major issue in the upcoming General Assembly.

While that statement could have been made prior to any of the Legislatures during the past decade, public school teachers see a ray of hope going into the 1980 session.

Gov.-Elect John Y. Brown Jr. took an early stand in support of PN, one of the few firm commitments he made during his gubernatorial campaign.

Thus, after a frustrating decade that saw them get a PN bill passed at one time but have it vetoed by the governor, school teachers are optimistic they will finally get a negotiations law passed.

However, it remains to be seen how vigorously Brown will go to the mat with the Legislature to get a professional negotiations bill passed.

The issue is expected to be hotly debated and was a decisive issue in at least one legislative race where former baseball star Jim Bunning, a strong PN opponent, defeated the veteran Sen. Don Johnson, D-Fort Mitchell, one of PN's key supporters in the Senate.

Brown's legislative team, headed by former state Rep. Ralph Ed Graves, is working on the final draft of a PN bill that will be introduced in the 1980 session.

The Kentucky Education Association has agreed to the inclusion of a no-strike clause and a provision limiting the bill to public school teachers and administrators — two provisions that Brown insisted upon before he would offer his support.

The bill is still basically the same as one passed two years ago by the Senate but killed in a House committee. It also resembles a bill passed by both houses in 1972 but vetoed by former Gov. Wendell Ford.

The bill would require local school boards to negotiate with recognized teacher organizations on such things as curriculum, salaries, working conditions, hours and in-service training.

If the two sides cannot agree, an arbitrator selected by the state Labor Department would be brought in. However, the school board would not be bound by his or her findings.

If the board rejects the arbitrator's report and recommendations, they would still be made public.

There are provisions for binding arbitration if there are later disagreements over interpretation of any contract agreed to between local boards and teachers.

Spokesmen for both Brown and the KEA contend the bill will not bring about forced unionization of teachers, pointing out that no teacher can be forced to join a teacher organization under provisions of the bill. However, groups such as the Kentucky School Boards Association are expected to put up a strong fight against the bill.

They say that even with the no-strike clause the bill is unacceptable to them. They say it will be a foot in the door that will lead to eventual unionization of the state's teachers, which they claim would take the decision-making process over tax-payers' money away from the elected boards.

Authorities Ready To Investigate Concert Deaths

By BILL VALE
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Authorities are preparing for the dismal task of investigating the deaths of 11 young people in Monday's rock concert stampede. And the man who will head the investigation says the findings will probably be obvious.

"It's unfortunate that sometimes a tragedy is a lever to get things done that people knew all along should have been done," said Henry Sandman, appointed Wednesday by City Manager Sylvester Murray to head the task force.

Murray said the group will include city and citizen members but he has changed his mind about officials from the Riverfront Coliseum.

"I have changed my mind. I probably will appoint people from the coliseum but not as voting members," Murray said.

Sandman, director of security at the University of Cincinnati, retired from the city where he served as chief of detectives and later acting and assistant city manager. He will head the committee without pay.

"I share the horrible shock so many people suffered at seeing so many people losing their lives," he said.

Mayor J. Kenneth Blackwell said City Council's law committee will immediately take up two proposals. One would give police authority over the privately owned coliseum to prevent crowd problems. The second would ban sale of general admission tickets to rock concerts.

He said two concerts have been canceled this month, but a third remains scheduled for January.

Councilman Gerald N. Springer, a former mayor and advocate of rock concerts, cautioned the general public against banning them.

"... there is a temptation in light of such tragedy to withdraw, to say no more coliseum, no more crowd events. I don't believe that that is the answer. We should not shut out the outside world."

"What makes a city a special place is the diversity of people, culture, art and entertainment that it offers its citizens and its visitors. The challenge is not to turn this all off, but rather to learn to live and learn and work and enjoy among each other in an environment of safety and trust and compassion. Nobody died Monday night because of a song or a band. They died because in the chaos and the electricity of the moment, we forgot to care about the human being who was standing in front of us," Springer said.

State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-Cincinnati, said he will introduce legislation to protect patrons of large indoor concerts in Ohio.

"We've been playing Russian roulette for a long time," Aronoff said.

President Jimmy Carter sent condolences to the families of the victims through his son, Chip, here for campaign appearances Wednesday.

"I watched the television news with Dad last night (Tuesday) and he has asked me to express his sympathy for the families.

"Watching those interviews on TV, it was devastating. It was just unbelievable," Chip Carter said.

Dr. Frank Cleveland, Hamilton County Coroner, said asphyxiation was the cause of the 11 deaths. He said the victims were pressed under the weight of others who stepped and fell on them. A full report will be made later, he said. Six funerals were scheduled for Friday.

Several Retail Stores To Take Advantage Of Ruling For Sunday Hours

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Several more retail stores apparently plan to open Sunday, taking advantage of a judge's ruling that bars enforcement of the state's 178-year-old "blue law."

Fayette Mall manager Tom Holmes said most of his mall's 77 stores would open Sunday and continue the practice indefinitely.

"It's not just a Christmas thing as far as we are concerned," Holmes said.

Most stores at Lexington Mall, Turf Mall, the Mall at Lexington Center and Eastland Shopping Center previously announced they would join several discount stores in opening this Sunday.

A group of Christian Church ministers, meanwhile, has called for a referendum on the blue law in the wake of Fayette Circuit Judge George Barker's ruling.

But William Lear, law commissioner for the Urban County Government, says the ministers have little chance of success.

"First, I don't know of any procedure for a referendum in such a case," Lear said. "Second, if a referendum was held, ... it would have no effect on the judge's decision."

The Rev. Wally Rendel, pastor of Southern Acres Christian Church, said voters should be able to decide whether Fayette County has Sunday sales.

"Our feeling is that a law that has stood for 178 years needs a public referendum instead of just one judge's ruling," Rendel said.

Another ministerial meeting was planned today, he said, at which a referendum, boycott and legislative lobbying likely would be discussed.

Rendel said a boycott of stores was discussed by the ministers at a meeting Tuesday, but its effectiveness was questioned.

He added some ministers "monitored" stores that were open Sunday and found most of them filled with customers.

Rendel said that was because only a handful of discount stores were open.

"If all the stores were open, you wouldn't see 15 people in lines at the register," he said.

Leaders Says Brown Wants Stansbury Out

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders say Gov.-elect John Y. Brown Jr. told them last week that he would like to see Louisville Mayor William Stansbury resign as a means of strengthening the city's leadership, according to a published report.

In a copyright story in today's editions, The Courier-Journal said two of the state senators who met with him also said that Brown indicated he is willing to help Stansbury find another job.

Legislators who were present said Brown raised the issue of Stansbury and the city's leadership during discussions of the state's role in downtown Louisville's development, according to the newspaper.

"He wanted to see more (leadership) from the community...both business and community leadership," said state Sen. David Karem, D-Louisville. "He indicated one of the things that would help would be if Mayor Stansbury took something someplace else. (He) even went so far as to indicate he would try to help him somewhat."

Frank Ashley, Brown's press secretary, confirmed Wednesday night that Brown met with House and Senate leaders and had discussed what he considers to be leadership problems in Louisville and throughout the state.

Ashley said Brown did not think it appropriate to make any comment about individuals.

Stansbury is vacationing in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., this week and could not be reached for comment. However, he has said repeatedly that he intends to finish his term, which ends in 1981.
